

Document Calls for Stepped Up Attacks

Cong Also Gets the Moratorium Word

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong document found 30 miles east of Saigon calls for intensive attacks in that region this week-end to support the antiwar protest march on Washington Saturday, official sources said Monday.

The sources said the document was taken last Tuesday from the body of either a courier or a liaison officer who was killed in a firefight with Australian forces.

The directive, believed to have been issued by the Viet Cong's local headquarters at Vung Tau, was dated Oct. 27.

It said: "In support of the upcoming struggle of the American people for peace of South Vietnam and the withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam, we are to launch intensive attacks in all aspects on the enemy on Nov. 14-15."

The allied sources said the directive may have been issued only for propaganda and psychological purposes to boost the morale of the Viet Cong and that the attacks may not be made.

Meanwhile, North Vietnamese troops kept up their pressure in the Mekong Delta and in the Central Highlands. In the delta they ambushed a South Vietnamese convoy and mauled a platoon of militiamen. In the highlands they attacked an American airfield.

Nine militiamen were killed and seven wounded when a North Vietnamese force overran an outpost manned by 35 men near the district town of Tri Ton in the Seven Mountains region. There was no word of enemy casualties.

The North Vietnamese at the same time shelled Tri Ton and another militia position nearby, wounding 11 civilians and three militiamen.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 51 of the enemy were killed in the ambush, which occurred Sunday in the same general area near the Cambodian border 125 miles southwest of Saigon. Damage to the convoy included three soldiers killed, seven wounded and six trucks destroyed.

Two North Vietnamese regiments which infiltrated deep into the delta last summer have had 221 men killed in five days of fighting in the Seven mountains area and farther south at the edge of the forbidding U Minh Forest.

Government casualties total 52 killed and 178 wounded in the two areas since Thursday.

The truck convoy was shifting 155mm howitzers in the Seven Mountains region six miles east of the Cambodian border when the North Vietnamese set off mines and then attacked with rocket grenades and machine guns.

About a dozen North Vietnamese commandos firing rockets and grenades broke into the big American helicopter strip at Ban Me Thuot, a major military operations center in the southern part of the Central Highlands 160 miles northeast of Saigon.

Eight Americans were wounded, and one truck was destroyed. But 30 helicopters parked along the asphalt runway escaped damage when U.S. security forces quickly drove off the enemy sappers.

Nixon's Opponents and Supporters Set for Demonstrations This Week

(By The Associated Press)

Supporters and opponents of President Nixon's Vietnam policy hold new demonstrations this week in the continuing controversy over the nation's involvement in the war.

A week of activities by groups backing the President will be highlighted by Veterans Day ceremonies Tuesday in Washington. The focus returns to the nation's capital Saturday when critics plan a massive antiwar march and rally.

As signs of support through the week for Nixon's Vietnam policies, administration backers called for participation in parades, burning of car head-lights, waving flags and the wearing of buttons that say "I Love America."

"Tell It To Hanoi," "Operation Speakout," "Freedom Rally," "Honor America Week" and "National Confidence Week" are among the titles given the pro-administration demonstrations.

Activities by supporters and critics began early. A Veterans Day parade was held Saturday in Midland Park, N.J., a town of 8,000 that has lost eight sons in Vietnam. Police estimated there were 8,000 marchers and 25,000 spectators.

Sponsors of the parade said they wanted to dramatize their support of the President's policies and opposition to antiwar demonstrators.

In Houston, Tex., a "march for peace" covered 36 blocks Sunday. Police estimated there were 900 marchers and put the total attendance at a rally afterward at 1,900.

About 75 of the demonstrators identified themselves as soldiers from Ft. Hood, Tex. Dr. Howard Levy, a former Army physician who was court-martialed for refusing to train Green Beret medics, told the rally, "Mr. Nixon shouldn't worry about being the first president to lose a war—but should be worried about being the first president to lose the Army."

Prayers were offered in many churches throughout the nation Sunday for the estimated 1,300 American servicemen missing or held captive in Southeast Asia.

President Nixon had declared the day a National Day of Prayer and Concern. He did not attend church services in Key Biscayne, Fla., to join publicly in the observance.

A spokesman for the Washington Cathedral said services there were conducted as usual with "nothing" to commemorate the National Day of Prayer. In Newport News, Va., a prayer program at Todd Stadium drew crowds despite rain.

Today negotiations continue for the route to be followed by the antiwar demonstrators in Washington amid government warnings of violence and assurances from protesters that they plan only peaceful dissent.

Bryce Harlow, counselor to the President, repeated Sunday the government's contention "that there is an active possibility of violence."

Protest planners denied the predictions of violence. Dr. Benjamin Spock accused the administration of trying to frighten away demonstrators.

House Speaker McCormack alienates some Democrats with his attempts to push through resolution backing President Nixon's Vietnam policy. Story Page 40.

The week's first demonstrations in Washington will come from the pro-administration side with two major events on Veterans Day.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, gospel singer Mahalia Jackson and Medal of Honor winner Rodolfo C. Hernandez will headline the official program Tuesday in Arlington National Cemetery.

This will be followed by a rally at Washington Monument being sponsored by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. The rally is designed to provide those persons the President called the "silent majority" a chance to show their opposition to the war critics.

At 6 p.m. Thursday, antiwar group plan to begin a 36-hour "March Against Death" from Arlington National Cemetery to the Capitol with each of the expected 45,000 participants representing an American killed in Vietnam or a Vietnamese village destroyed in the war.

Friday a Youth International Party (Yippie) group will march with Spock to the Justice Department to present petitions demanding an end to the Chicago trial of seven persons on conspiracy charges in connection with disorders at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

The "March Against Death" will conclude at 10 a.m. Saturday, and a memorial service will mark a transition to the mass march.

The route of that march has been a matter of dispute with the organizers seeking a permit to go down Pennsylvania Avenue past the White House. The Justice Department turned down the request.

The protesters have agreed to settle for a route down Constitution Avenue but government officials say they can't come any closer to the White House than a distant view from the south side.

Busy Week for County Veteran Groups; Antiwar Mood Focuses on Area Campuses

By TOBY GEERTSEMA

As the scope of planned observances of the second Vietnam Moratorium, as well as Honor America Week expanded locally, anti-war and anti-war supporters were indicating their responsiveness to the war protest or to President Nixon's plans for standing fast in Vietnam.

A big week was shaping up as Ulster County veterans organizations went about the business of turning Tuesday (Veteran's Day) into a support day for Nixon's policies. There also were plans to keep whatever enthusiasm is generated by Veterans Day activities alive throughout the week as a counter-demonstration against the second Vietnam Moratorium, scheduled for Nov. 13 and 14, and culminating in a mass march and rally in Washington D. C., Nov. 15.

Labeling themselves as "persons who care," county units of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Catholic War Veterans, Youth for Freedom and the Marine Corps League have scheduled a series of events and observances, along with a parade to accentuate the feelings of what President Nixon has called "the great silent majority."

Setting the Pace

Veterans Day activities will be concentrated in Saugerties, where that town's Memorial Post 5034, VFW, is setting the pace for Loyalty Week with its Operation Speak Out, designed to show support of the government on the Vietnam issue, and a "Hear the Silent Majority" torchlight parade and motorcade.

"It is time that the silent majority let its will be known publicly," said Commander Angelo Carotti of the Saugerties VFW Post, as he urged all community organizations to join a torchlight parade and motorcade starting Tuesday at 7 p. m. in Saugerties. For this demonstration in support of war veterans and President Nixon, town and village officials, the Marine Corps League Junior unit, an Army detachment, VFW and American Legion members, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Jaycees, Jaynees and DAR members will form a line of march at 6:30 p. m. behind the Main Street School on Division Street.

Decorating their cars with banners and carrying flashlights, they will march through village streets to Donlon Auditorium, where a patriotic musical program will be presented. Parade Marshall Bernard Nolan also says copies of FBI head J. Edgar Hoover's flier, "What You Can Do to Fight Communism," will be distributed.

Adds Nolan, "On Moratorium Day the opposition will be out strong. This is our opportunity to DO something positive."

Later in the week, the torch-lit in Saugerties will be passed to veterans groups in Kingston. "We will start the ball rolling in Saugerties," says Lynn Vickery of the VFW Auxiliary, "and the Kingston VFW, with the cooperation of the American Legion, Marine Corps League, Youth for Freedom and Catholic War Vets will take over on Wednesday for the rest of the week."

At City Hall

What plans Kingston organizations have underway in the way of backing for the President are not yet complete, but a Veterans Day ceremony in front of city hall is planned Tuesday at 10:30 a. m., at which Ulster County Sheriff William B. Martin and Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan are scheduled to speak.

In another observance which scrupulously seeks not "to take issue with the Vietnam war," Kingston Lions Club will pay tribute to the Armed Forces of the U.S. and to veterans in all branches of service at its regular noon luncheon meeting Tuesday at Gov. Clinton Hotel. Guest speaker will be Lt. Col. A. P. De Luca, West Pointer, who has served in Vietnam and Korea. Representatives of all branches of the Armed Forces will attend as guests.

Meanwhile, all Mid-Hudson Valley units of the National Guard have been notified to "try to comply" with an appeal by Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, chief of the National Guard Bureau, to participate in a counter-demonstration against antiwar activities this week. At Kingston Armory, a Guard spokesman said area units "were planning to do exactly as the chief asked," meaning they will drive with automobile headlights on during the day from Nov. 11 to 16, display American flags at their homes and leave porch lights burning around the clock. Private citizens sympathetic to President Nixon's policies are expected to do the same locally. Additionally, the Marine Corps League will publicize and support its "Victory With Honor" stand during Loyalty Week.

Anti-war sentiment locally will be concentrated on area campuses where hundreds of students plan mass rallies. Sign for Peace postcard campaigns, canvassing and leafletting operations, symbolic sympathy actions, and marches to coincide with "The March Against

Kingston Soldier Killed in Viet

KINGSTON

Army Sp/4 John P. Brady Jr., the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Brady Sr. of 136 Jansen Avenue, has been killed in Vietnam.

Brady's mother told The Freeman that the family was notified on Saturday by telegram from the Department of Defense that their son had been missing in action since Nov. 4. Sunday night, a man the family described as Captain Hooper came to their home and notified them that their son had been killed in action. Mrs. Brady said the officer gave no details surrounding her son's death.

"He didn't have to go to Vietnam," Mrs. Brady told The Freeman. "He volunteered. They were going to send him to Germany."

Brady's father, John, has been a city employee for many years and now works as a custodian at city hall.

Sp/4 Brady was a member of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment. He had trained with that unit at Fort Hood, Texas. Brady arrived in Vietnam for duty on July 14.

Brady, who turned 21 in July of this year, enlisted in the Army on July 11, 1967. He took basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and later trained at Fort Mead in Maryland and Fort Hood. He would have been discharged from the Army in July of next year.

He is survived by his parents and three sisters, Patricia Brady, Mrs. Veronica Natoli and Mrs. Dorothy Komasa, all of Kingston. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Thirty-one Ulster County servicemen have been killed in Vietnam since PFC James R. Reilly of Esopus was killed on March 17, 1966. SP/4 Brady was the ninth serviceman killed this year and the fourth in 1969 from Kingston. A total of 11 servicemen from Kingston have been killed in Vietnam.

Sp/4 Brady was the second son of a city employee to die in the Vietnam fighting. Air Force Sgt. Walter J. Dart Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Dart Sr. of 178 Third Avenue, was killed in Vietnam in June. His father is an employee of the city department of public works.

The county suffered a double fatality in February of this year when the deaths of Privates First Class Henry Schulte of New Paltz and John Senor of Kingston were reported.

Sgt. Barton Decker of Kerhonkson was killed in action on March 14. Stephen Sherlock of Kingston on April 2, PFC Michael Winters of Saugerties on April 22, Marine PFC Raymond Wood of Napanoch on May 17, Sgt. Dart on June 6, Army Private James Rundle of the Town of Ulster on June 13 and Sp/4 Brady.

Injunction Orders Two Roads Open

KINGSTON — There was no opposition in Supreme Court Friday to the show cause order filed by Louis P. Francello attorney for the Town of Saugerties who seeks a temporary injunction in the matter of the blocking of two town roads in Blue Mountain. Presiding Justice Russell G. Hunt told Francello to submit an order issuing the temporary injunction. This would result in the injunction being in force.

The case stems from the fact that two roads in Blue Mountain assumed to be town roads, which were blocked by adjacent property owners were ordered open Oct. 16 when Supreme Court Justice George L. Cobb signed the show cause order at a special term of Supreme Court.

The two signed orders were served by Town Police Officers Charles Riley and Herbert Hommel. They directed the property owners Frank Beiter and John Zotos to desist until the matter came before the court.

The road which bisects Beiter's property was closed by a wire and trench. The Cotton Road through the Zotos property was blocked with a chain.

State police investigators today pursued investigation of a fatal traffic accident that authorities said was caused when a 26-year-old woman motorist swerved her car to avoid what she thought was a body on the highway and crashed into an oncoming vehicle.

Troopers said the "body" turned out to be two pillows and a pillowcase made up to resemble a body.

Killed in the crash which occurred Saturday night on Route 22 near here was Walborg Clason, 74, of Sherman, Conn. She was a passenger in a car operated by Jennie Parker, 66, of New Milford, Conn. The other vehicle was driven by Joan Simard, of Winddale.

State Police said the Winddale woman told authorities she was driving north on the Harlem Valley highway when she noticed what appeared to be a body on the pavement. She swerved sharply to avoid the object and her car flipped over and struck the southbound vehicle operated by the New Milford woman.

Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester H. Golding pronounced the Clason woman dead at the scene.

Denise Simard, 5, and her mother were injured. The girl suffered a broken leg and fractured ribs. They were taken to the hospital in Sharon, Conn.

Injured in the Parker car were the driver, and Roland Benson, 80, and his wife, Mildred, 63, of Gaylordsville, Conn. They were admitted at the hospital after treatment for lacerations and bruises.

Troopers said they were endeavoring to determine how the improvised form of a person made up with the pillows and case, got on the highway.

Several Are Injured In City Accidents

Several persons sustained injuries in weekend traffic accidents reported to city police.

Cars operated by Bessie Sutton, 51, of 19 Church Street, New Paltz, and Claire Wawryck, 18, of 2 Field Avenue, Hicksville, L.I., collided Saturday afternoon at South Manor Avenue and O'Neil Street. After the impact the Long Island vehicle struck a parked car owned by John Fuoco of 231 Second Avenue.

The injured were the Hicksville woman and two passengers in her car, Joel Flees, 17, of Queens, and Audrey Frankeski, 18, of the Bronx. They were taken to Kingston Hospital by Fatums Ambulance. The New Paltz woman sustained contusions of the forehead, police said.

At 11:40 a.m. Sunday, vehicles driven by James M. Cavin, 29, of 19 Harrison Street, and Leslie H. Bird, 37, of Hurley were involved in a collision on Millers Lane at Mt. View Avenue. Barbara Cavin, 3, was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Fatums Ambulance for treatment of injuries.

Shortly after 3:15 p.m. Saturday, cars driven by Robert L. Riggin, 18, of Morton Boulevard and Vergia B. Carpenter, 33, of 31 Gill Street, collided at Smith Avenue and Garden Street. Vanella Peebles, 12, of 31 Gill Street, a passenger

2 Counties Seek Data on Greene Girl

By WALTER S. CLARK

EARLTON — Investigation was pressed today by authorities in Greene and Montgomery Counties, seeking information that might lead to the whereabouts of a 19-year-old girl student nurse, who disappeared from a dormitory at St. Mary's School of Nursing four days ago.

Norma Lee Pettit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Pettit of Tranquility Farms, in this community, was last seen Thursday night by her roommate at the nursing school.

It was reported that Miss Pettit left a note for her roommate informing her that she received word that her father was waiting for her in his automobile outside the school. The missing nurse's mother said today that Pettit knew nothing about the meeting.

When Miss Pettit didn't return to her dormitory room, the roommate gave the note to the head Sister at the Catholic school and the latter phoned the Pettit home here to inquire whether Norma Lee would attend classes on Friday. She was told the girl had not been home and had not been in communication with her father.

Authorities were notified and the sheriff's department in Greene and Montgomery Counties launched an investigation.

Mrs. Pettit said she received a letter from her daughter on Friday. "Norma Lee was happy and appeared contented," Mrs. Pettit told a Freeman reporter. "Norma asked me to bring a velvet dress she had made for a school dance to be held next Friday, and also a gown she had made and planned to wear at a friend's wedding the weekend of Nov. 21-23."

Mrs. Pettit said she had planned to go to Amsterdam today with the gowns for her daughter.

An official at the Greene county sheriff's office said today he knew nothing about a report that authorities had a lead the missing student nurse may be in Cincinnati, Ohio. Mrs. Pettit said she received a call to that effect at 1 a. m. today.

The missing student's mother said her daughter had never gone away before for any length of time without notifying her parents.

"I can't imagine what could have happened," said Debra, 17-year-old sister of Norma Lee. "I just hope she's safe and well."

Authorities said the pretty blonde student nurse is 5 feet 7 inches tall and weighs about 120 pounds. When last seen she was wearing olive green bell bottom slacks and a white ski jacket with white fur. It also was reported that a pair of orange slacks were missing from Miss Pettit's room.

The Greene County sheriff's office said today they had not received any word as to the whereabouts of the missing student. Her mother said the last the girl had been in touch with the family was 11 a. m. Thursday when Miss Pettit telephoned her home and asked her mother to bring her two gowns to her today.

Minor Changes Are Approved

Saugerties Adopts Budget

By SHANE CROSBY

SAUGERTIES — Saugerties Town Board adopted its 1970 town budget Saturday morning here in a special session, changing three items but keeping the original amount of $421,924.52 — expecting the tax rate that will verge on the $100 mark.

The three changes from the proposed budget aired at a public hearing last week were an increase of $2,000 in attorney fees and expenses, and reductions of $1,000 in the town dump operation and a $1,000 cut in the recreation budget.

Town Clerk Marion Newkirk said that although the session held Saturday morning was open to the public, no one viewed the session. Town law required that the budget be voted upon within five days of the hearing, held Nov. 6.

Last year's general tax rate was $91.52 per $1,000 of assessed value, but expectations are that this year's rate will near the $100 mark, depending on county charges, yet to be considered.

The amount to be raised, that includes highway funds, will be $245,894.47.

Town Attorney Louis P. Francello received an increase of $1,500 from the proposed $2,000 in personal services fees and was also given $500 for expenses. His $2,000 increase was taken from the town recreation budget, said Newkirk, that was reduced by $1,000 as was the landfill operation, leaving basically the same figures discussed at the public hearing, she said.

The proposed attorney fee had come under attack at the hearing by Francello and others who contended it was too low.

The recreation program had also been examined at the public hearing, having been a political issue in the recent election campaign. The hearing marked the first time the recreation program was aired to the public and it was noted that the operation was being accomplished with volunteer labor.

Milk Talks Continuing, No New Strike Deadline

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations between milk distributors and milk deliverers continued today at the request of mediators, with no new strike deadline announced.

Spokesmen for the two sides said at 12:30 a. m. that talks at the Lexington Hotel were expected to continue through the early morning. Indications from both sides were that no strike would be called as long as the talks continued.

Locals 584, 602 and 607 of the Teamsters Union, representing some 4,200 deliverers and bottlers, ignored a 4 p. m. strike deadline Sunday after having already extended their contract three times.

Shortly after the 4 p. m. deadline passed, a Teamsters spokesman said "We acceded to the request of city and state mediators and are continuing our talks."

A strike would affect 150 milk distributors and would leave all of New York City and parts of Long Island, Westchester County and New Jersey without home or store milk deliveries.

The unions have said that in the event of a strike, deliveries will be made to schools, hospitals and similar institutions.

Paul Corash, executive director of the Metropolitan Dairy Association, said Sunday night, "Dollars and cents are still the major issue."

According to the milk companies, the unions are demanding a $30 per week increase in wages and benefits. At present, markets sell milk at 29 cents weekly pay, including commissions, average $136 for plant workers and $180 for route drivers.

The companies estimate that if union demands are met, the price of milk would have to be raised by about seven cents a quart. At present most city supermarkets sell milk at 29 cents a quart.

Hunting Mishap

RHINEBECK — He was admitted for further treatment.

A 13-year-old boy was accidentally shot in both legs Sunday afternoon when he walked in a wooded area off Quaker Lane, Town of Hyde Park, where his father was hunting rabbits.

State Police said Hugh Owens of Staatsburg was taken to the Northern Dutchess Hospital where a large number of pellets were removed from his legs.

Troopers reported that the boy's father, Hugh, 40, was hunting when his son walked in the area as his father turned to shoot a rabbit. The pellets felled the boy.

Owens was chaged with hunting without a license. He appeared before Clinton Town Justice Ashlet Losee and paid his $12.50 in civil compromise.

Fish Announces Plans For Beacon Meeting

POUGHKEEPSIE — Rep. Hamilton Fish, Jr. today announced that a Congressional Neighborhood Meeting would be held in the City of Beacon Saturday, Nov. 15.

The meeting, to which all interested citizens of Beacon are invited, will be held at 9:30 a. m. Saturday in the City Council Chamber, Municipal Building, 427 Main Street, Beacon.

The Beacon Neighborhood Meeting is one of a series being conducted by Congressman Fish and the first to be held in Dutchess County. Meeting have been held in Kingston and Ellenville.

"The purpose of these meetings is to give me an opportunity to speak with both City officials and community leaders and the average citizen about the problems they face and to learn from them how we can be of help on the Federal level," Congressman Fish said.

According to Congressman Fish, "one of the basic purposes is to increase the flow of communication between the Congressional office and the people. I am there to serve them, and unless I meet with them and learn what they want I feel I am not fully meeting the obligations of the Congressional office."

The meeting will be informal, with everyone attending being urged to give their views and air any complaints.

"I will have my staff with me and anyone who wishes to deal with a personal problem or discuss legislation will be able to speak privately with one of them," Congressman Fish said.

Managing Editor's

Notebook

When I was growing up in the New York City's public school system we were told that the longest word in the English language was a monster called ANTIDISESTABLISHMENTARIANISM. We, of course, didn't have the foggiest notion of what it meant, but it sure made us feel big to go around saying it, a whole mouthful at a time.

Naturally, a word such as that didn't make it into anyone's book of common usage and I imagine downright neglect caused it to disappear from the vocabulary of any of the alumnus of P.S. 19.

But now maybe it isn't such a bad word to think about. What it actually means is those who oppose the establishment—an awful lot of what we hear about nowadays. President Nixon in his latest report to the nation on the status on the Vietnam war and specifically the progress of the peace negotiations might have used the term but possibly felt that just saying it once or twice would have taken up most of his air time, so he settled for silent majority instead.

Nixon undoubtedly thinks an awful lot about the silent majority and feels that the major part of his support must come from this group which we are told is comprised of the lower, middle-middle and under middle classes, lumping both blue and white collar workers together.

And perhaps he is right. The Republican gubernatorial victories in both New Jersey and Virginia indicate there is a large amount of support behind the President's low-key policies which deliberately shun bombast, agonizing soul-searching at least once a day and the flaming Madison Avenue image.

William Cahill in his Jersey win stunned political trend watchers with his annihilation of Robert Meyner, who was attempting a political comeback; Republican Linwood Holton became the Republican governor of Virginia and the first Republican to be elected to the seat since 1885. Each freely acknowledges he benefitted from a visit from Nixon who played a one night campaign in each of these states.

And what about John Vliet Lindsay's come-from-behind stunner in New York. Didn't John denounce the Vietnam war, and didn't he say that the money instead should be used to help the cities? Yes—and didn't post-election surveys show that Lindsay's strength was drawn from the very top and the very bottom of New York's economic structure. He got the minorities; he got the very well-off but he did not get the fat and large middle class. The combined votes of John Marchi and Mario Procaccino far outpolled Lindsay.

And that brings us the rub. The very word 'fat'. The silent majority is the fat cat of our society. They've got their homes they've got their boats, they've got their summer places, their swimming pools and television sets and they are not likely to get off their duffs and go out counterdemonstrating.

True they can keep their headlights on all day, and they can fly the flag and they can fire off telegrams of support to the White House, but is that enough?

The violence and the noise and rhetoric of the DISESTABLISHMENTARIANS will get the headlines and television coverage. And who can truly assess the strength of the silent majority. It is so silent.

Minnewaska Decision Reserved

Decision was reserved in Supreme Court Friday on a motion to dismiss a foreclosure action against Lake Minnewaska Mountain Houses and Ski Minne Inc.

Papers were submitted to Justice Russell G. Hunt by both the Minnewaska Corp. and the County National Bank of Newburgh which is bringing the foreclosure action in the amount of $1.2 million. The original action was commenced Sept. 3 and a notice of a motion to dismiss the complaint was filed Oct. 3.

Lake Minnewaska is owned by Kenneth B. and Lucille Phillips. The 107 parcels of land involved have been the subject of a recent gigantic effort on the part of many to save the desirous Shawangunk Mountain resort property from falling into the hands of commercial developers and to seek its development as a public park.

The County National Bank seeks foreclosure on four mortgages in the amounts of $506,672 consolidated to constitute one single mortgage lien of $1.2 million.

The fiscal affairs and future development of Minnewaska received state-wide attention last summer when more than 40 federal, state and local officials met with conservation organizations at a Mid-Hudson Patterns for Progress meeting urging the state priority to acquire between 5,000 and 7,000 acres of the resort for a public park.

Mid-Hudson Pattern for Progress is but one of the many organizations interested in the future of the 10,500 acre preserve.

Minnewaska, as it has before, will be a subject of discussion at the next meeting of the County Legislature Nov. 13.

Salt Talks Begin

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vladimir S. Semenov, 67, will head the Soviet delegation to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) with the United States, it has been learned.

The SALT negotiations begin in Helsinki next Monday. The U.S. delegation will be composed of Gerard C. Smith, director of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency; Philip J. Farley, deputy director of the agency; former Navy Secretary Paul Nitze; former Air Force Secretary Harold Brown; former U.S. ambassador to Russia Levellyn E. Thompson; and Maj. Gen. Royal B. Allison.

power companies, the blackout affected about 30 million people.

And $30 Million Why? Since the blackout nearly $30 million has been spent trying to prevent it from happening again.

Strange happenings became commonplace Nov. 9, 1965 as New York State and parts of Canada, New England, New Jersey and Pennsylvania suddenly depended on candles for light and blankets for heat.

In Boston policemen, dressed in formal wear for the policemen's ball, found themselves in the streets trying to unsmash a massive traffic jam.

At Albany's airport emergency vehicles lined the runway to provide light for planes to land. A professor at Albany's State University taught his evening class, in the dark, to one student.

College students in Rochester piled into police headquarters to offer help, and were assigned around the city.

Perhaps the most lasting effect of the blackout actually took place nine months later. Then hospitals across the Northeast reported a sudden increase in births in what doctors began calling "Blackout Babies."

What happened to plunge the Northeast into darkness was a tremendous surge of power slung into New York State from Canada when the Sir Adam Beck Generating Station in Ontario failed. That sudden current was too much for Empire State lines to hold and it moved too fast for mechanical relays to trip, cutting off access from Canada. The blackout resulted.

Now, $30 million later, the New York Power Pool says a recurrence of the blackout is unlikely although not impossible. The pool is an amalgamation of seven New York utility companies.

The pool was started in 1966 and its members provide 98 per cent of all electrical power in the state. They include Consolidated Edison Co., Central Hudson Gas & Electric Co., Long Island Lighting Co., New York State Electric & Gas Corp., Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., and the Power Authority of the State of New York.

installing two computers in a it would have speeded up restoration of service by providing detailed information on the exact status of equipment across the state.

The center will be in partial manual operation early next year, but the computers will not be fully installed until 1972.

When in operation the computers will play "what if" games, Using continually updated information they will ask themselves what could happen of a particular generating station failed or a surge of electricity overloaded a particular line.

Computers to Give Answers While the center itself cost nearly $4 million, the pool members have also spent $26 million on monitoring equipment for their individual companies and have stopped the 1965 blackout, to meet peak demands.

Checkup for President

Nixon, Rocky Huddle on Latins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon invited Nelson A. Rockefeller to the White House today to discuss the New York governor's proposals for changing U.S. policy in Latin America. One suggestion would increase military aid to offset reported growing Communist subversion there.

Before meeting with Rockefeller, the President was to undergo what White House officials described as a routine physical check at Bethesda Naval Hospital in suburban Maryland. It was the first examination since Jan. 2 for Nixon, who returned to Washington Sunday night after a restful weekend in Key Biscayne, Fla.

Rockefeller's recommendations, numbering about 80 in all, were based on conclusions he reached last spring during visits to 20 Latin American countries. The trips, which led to violent demonstrations in several nations, were made at the President's request and the proposals were submitted to him recently in a 137-page report, which was to be released today.

The report warned armed Marxist subversion posed a serious threat in the Western Hemisphere and said the concern voiced by government officials was justified. It also defended the efforts of some Latin military regimes to help the oppressed, although it described their methods as somewhat authoritarian.

"At the moment, there is only one Castro among the 26 nations of the hemisphere," the report said. "There can well be more in the future."

The Rockefeller report called for technical changes to reduce the visible U.S. military presence in Latin America but suggested providing arms, along with ships and aircraft, to nations requesting them. It also proposed raising grants for local security, totaling about $21 million during the current fiscal year.

"Rising frustrations throughout the Western Hemisphere over poverty and political instability have led increasing numbers of people to pick the United States as a scapegoat and to seek out Marxist solutions to their socioeconomic problems," the report said.

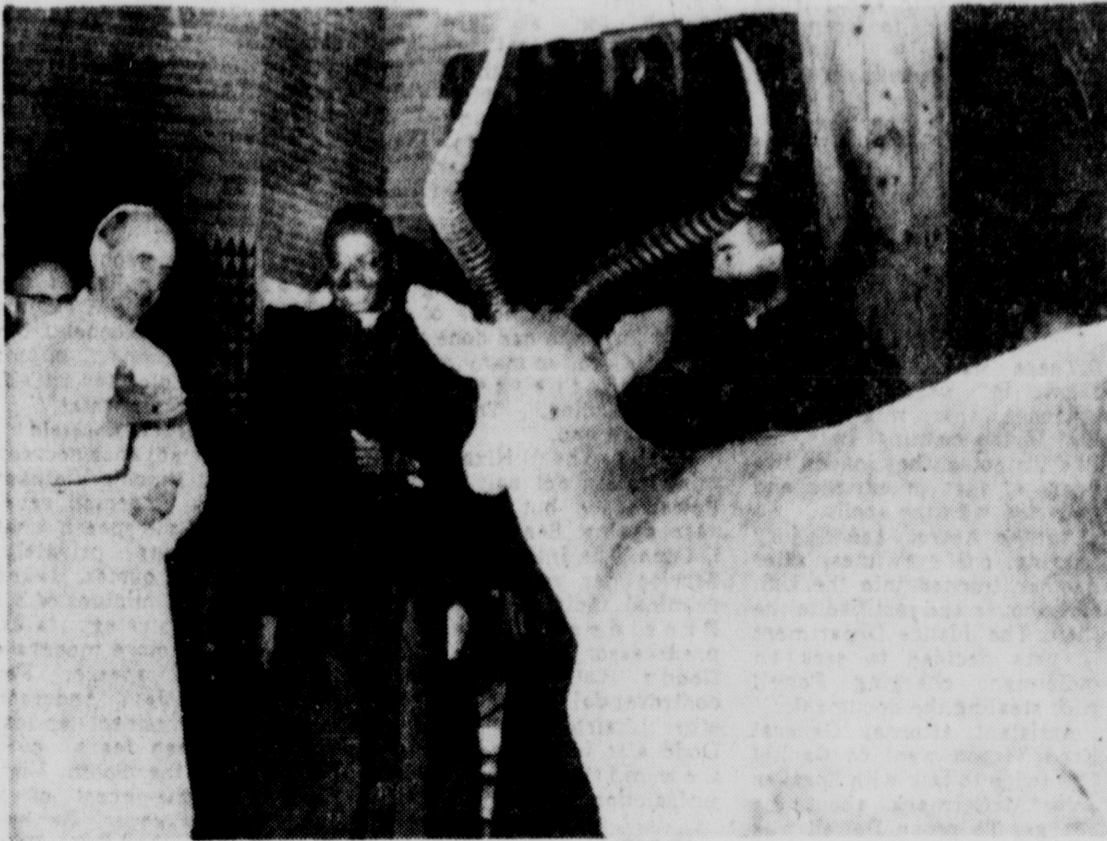

Growing nationalism with Marxist overtones will result in increasing anti-Americanism in the years ahead, the report predicted, and probably result in Latin military factions assuming a larger role in government, ousting civilian regimes in some instances.

White House officials said the document formed the basis of much of the Latin American policy the President outlined in his Oct. 31 address to the Inter-American Press Association. However, the report went further than Nixon's policy statement in some areas.

The President made no mention of increased military assistance or the creation of a cabinet-level hemisphere secretary, another recommendation of the Rockefeller team.

The President, who conferred with top-level foreign policy advisers during his flight back to Washington, will continue the discussions today at an afternoon session of his National Security Council.

State Demos Criticize Directive on Support

NEW YORK (UPI)—Three leading New York State Democrats Sunday criticized a written directive by the commanding general of the National Guard. The directive urged the 500,000 guardsmen across the nation to drive with their headlights on in support of President Nixon's Vietnam policy.

Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson's directive as a counterdemonstration during this week's moratorium marches represented "political intrusion," said Howard Samuels, the former Undersecretary of Commerce.

Samuels and Rep. James H. Scheuer D-N.Y., called for Wilson's removal. Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal D-N.Y., urged President Nixon to repudiate Wilson's position and reaffirm the separation between the military and political spheres of government.

The Democrats said their stand was being sponsored by the New York Chapter of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA).

Wilson has publicly told commanding generals of the National Guard in the 50 states, Washington, D.C., and Puerto Rico to urge their men to drive with headlights on, fly the flag, and leave porch lights on to

Draft Change Forum Vowed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Stennis, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, says he'll guarantee an early forum next year for advocates of a sweeping overhaul of the military draft system.

But the Mississippi Democrat told his colleagues any "harum-scarum" debate aimed at adding reform amendments to a pending draft-by-lottery measure will kill all chances for action on that bill this session.

Stennis called his committee together today to consider the President's lottery measure which passed the House two weeks ago.

"I'm going to recommend to them that we pass this bill exactly as we received it..." he said Sunday.

Stennis said he would ask for reform-minded senators to hold amendments until full hearings can be held next year.

Stennis commented on the CBS radio-television program "Face the Nation."

"I am going to meet with those who wish to offer these far-reaching amendments and discuss it, guarantee them that we will have comprehensive hearings next year, then ask them not to bring the amendments up," Stennis said.

He said he already has discussed the issue with Assistant Democratic Leader Edward M. Kennedy, but not with other senators.

Kennedy broke an impasse an all-volunteer army.

Veterans Day

Veterans Day, which will be observed tomorrow, is an appropriate day for a display of the public consciousness of the part American soldiers have played in keeping the country free and independent.

As we observe Veterans Day, which formerly was called Armistice Day, we will be paying tribute to the men and women who are serving in our armed forces and acknowledging the sacrifices made by the veterans of all our country's wars.

November 11 takes on high meaning in these challenging times. It is a day dedicated to peace and an opportunity to draw confidence from our own country. On this day, each of us should reassert his pride in being an American and rededicate himself to the maintenance of this country's military, economic and spiritual strength.

Originally Armistice Day observed the ending of hostilities in World War I. Then its scope broadened to pay tribute to veterans of all our country's wars. The veterans of the U.S. armed forces will deserve the honor that will be theirs tomorrow.

Veterans Day, a legal holiday, is a fitting time to pay tribute to the men and women who have served in our armed forces, acknowledging their sacrifices in the nation's most severe hours. It also is a fitting time to display our loyalty to our country by uniting behind President Nixon in his effort to bring peace in Vietnam.

No Recession Seen in 1970

The Nixon Administration's spokesman on business, Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, has taken a sounding of 1970 and sees no recession imminent. Instead, he sees a slow-down in inflation, consumer and business spending. Also he notes a retardation in the growth of the Gross National Product figure; with all these factors forestalling over-heated economic conditions that would have made an "economic bust inevitable."

Stans gave his preview in an address to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, stating that next year's real economic growth will be at a slower rate in the first part of the year and picking up in the last half. His judgment was corroborated by Budget Director Robert Mayo, who said flatly in Washington, "I don't believe we are going to have a recession."

A further squeeze on corporate profits next year is part of Stans' outlook, due to lower production and higher labor costs.

The GNP is expected to rise 7.8 per cent this year to $380 billion, a real increase of three per cent due to higher prices. Next year, Stans predicts the real increase will still be lower, though the GNP may reach a trillion dollars for the first time.

Stans reported estimates of 1970 capital spending by corporations, ranging from increases of five to nine per cent. However, again because of higher prices, there should be little rise, in real terms, over the current year.

Government spokesmen have steadily refused to name a maximum unemployment figure they would tolerate to combat inflation, but Stans is said to have told the National Business Council the Administration could not slow unemployment to reach five per cent.

In sum, Stans believes the present restraining policies have already achieved "exactly the right effect" and must continue to control inflation. We can look for high interest rates and tight money for an indefinite period, with lower spending and more unemployment until it hurts. Cooling the prolonged boom is exacting a fearful price we must all bear.

Tax Reform Speed

The Senate Finance Committee finished in unexpected speed its version of the 368-page House-passed tax reform bill and sent it to the Senate for action. Thus enhanced are the chances of tax reduction and reform being passed in time to be effective on 1969 income, and to be applied by the March 15 and April 15 tax-paying dates in 1970.

Senator Russell B. Long, chairman of the Finance Committee, was not so optimistic about further speeding of the timetable. Even after long deliberations on the Senate floor, he predicted it will take at least two weeks and maybe a month for a House-Senate conference committee to iron out differences in the two versions.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee, where the bill originated, is much more optimistic about getting it into law this year. Once the Senate acts, he believes the job of ironing out differences can be done in five days of intensive day and night sessions.

In any case, tax reform reduction seems to be assured in time to apply to 1969 incomes, and that is a triumph for the taxpayers.

David Lawrence Says Republican Party Better Organized Than in Years

WASHINGTON — What America witnessed in the elections of Tuesday was, in a national sense, not a victory for either the Republican or the Democratic party. The outcome of the contests was influenced largely by local conditions rather than broad issues like the Vietnam War or the draft or the cost of living.

There was, however, a definite trend — a measure of discontent with democratic incumbents which enabled the Republican party to win the governorships in New Jersey and in Virginia. In each case, the Democrats were divided, and the nominee did not have the normal support of the party.

Senator Harrison Williams, Democrat of New Jersey, said that the results in his state "offer clear evidence of a voter upheaval, running from the smallest village to the largest city," and that "the vote is an unmistakable outcry against burdensome property taxes and city decay."

In the mayoralty elections, especially where Negroes were candidates, there were signs that racial consciousness played a vital part in winning victories for some of the Negro nominees and in bringing defeats to others. But even such a generalization is risky, because there were Negro candidates who had demonstrated their capability, and many people felt it was desirable to give them support with out regard to party or race.

The meaning of municipal elections is never easy to relate to national trends because local conditions vary. But the success of Mayor Lindsay in New York City as an independent candidate is significant. He was defeated in the Republican party primary, but received substantial support from both parties. The New York City election, however, was not unlike those which occurred in many of the other cities — local issues prevailed.

As for the impact on the national administration, President Nixon is, of course, gratified with the results because on the surface it looks as if he has won an endorsement. He did, after all, campaign personally for the Republican nominees for the governorship of New Jersey as well as Virginia. It is probably realistic, however, to note that Mr. Nixon would not have gone into either state if the race had been really close. He was doubtless assured in advance that victory was almost certain for the Republicans, and decided that it would be a good piece of political strategy to make a pre-election appearance. For now that the election is over, lots of people are reading about how the nominees for whom Mr. Nixon campaigned were triumphant.

This was not a year of congressional elections, so there was no test as to which party has the backing of a majority of the voters today. One year hence, however, things will be different, as the contest will be clear-cut between the Republican and the Democratic party in the battle to win a majority in both houses of Congress. The Republican campaign probably will be based on a plea that the President of the United States deserves to have in Congress a majority from his own party in order to get better coordination than has been the case this year between the two branches of government. It is hard to determine the exact reasons for the failure of Congress thus far to enact important legislation. Much of what has been passed has been of a compromise nature, and the people can hardly put the finger of blame precisely where it belongs.

The American people are confronted with many frustrations as a result of the existing situation in Congress. The House passed a so-called "tax reform" bill, and the Senate is making numerous modifications. It is going to be difficult to fix responsibility for the number of perplexing problems which will face the taxpayers next year. Long-range planning will be somewhat impaired, not only for individuals but for businesses.

The Republican party is better organized than it has been in years, and undoubtedly a campaign will be started early to gain a majority in Congress. The administration is bound to play an influential role. Some of the Republicans in Congress who have been consistently fighting the administration are likely to have opposition in the primaries. Nixon supporters on the local level will be exerting every effort to get middle-of-the-road candidates nominated rather than those of leftist or pacifist inclination.

Hopeful Rapport Emerging Between Blacks and Whites

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

HARRIMAN, N.Y. (NEA) — A broadly experienced black leader privately struck a note of hope to this reporter which suggests this nation may be slowly drifting away from the severe white-black confrontation that often has threatened virtual open warfare.

There will be no sudden, magic release from strife and strain. In many places, militants and revolutionaries will still ride hard. Eruption of violence in schools and streets will not end. Reprisals from fearful whites will remain a prospect, and their headlong dash for the suburbs will go on.

Yet, says this leader, who will not be named here, promising signs of change are visible and bigger ones can be brought within range if only enough money for needed effort can be found and wisely applied.

Heretofore, blacks who have "made it" even in a large way by any reasonable standard of achievement have frequently become embittered at the evident lack of acceptance by white-dominated society.

To day, accommodation between whites and blacks is somewhat easier at the higher economic, professional and social levels where it ought to be easy. It is not perfect. Suppressed tension still exists. Says this leader:

"Every time I move to a new setting I have to prove my basic competence all over again, and so do most of us. You feel there is always that doubt about your ability to perform. And then if you do prove yourself, there is a tendency among white employers to overpraise you for demonstrating competence they should assume you have."

In spite of these lingering problems, more and more blacks are rising on the corporate and professional ladders, as more are getting elected to public office (nearly 1,500 today).

Here, though, a curious effect intervenes. White business chiefs say few blacks are in high corporate operating posts because they do not take part in the tough wondering if trust can be total. He is very sensitive to every sign that might tend to confirm old mistrust. He examines every word from the other."

The reaching out nevertheless goes on at faster and stronger pace than before. It is helped, this man says, by the fact that so many younger Americans — students and young adults alike — approach each other more naturally. Black or white, they seem to feel less encumbered by the fears and animosities of the past.

Middle-class adult blacks, however, go on having trouble within the business firms and professional organizations they join. The quoted source says:

"The importance of all this is that leadership roles for blacks in U.S. society make the showcase that spells hope for the deprived and the undereducated. But, especially in the school field, the beckoning promise of betterment seems distant."

The source says flatly that desegregated big-city schools turned all black by the white exodus are lost to the cause of "integration." The sole hope there, he adds, is large infusion of money to upgrade steeply the quality of education.

Jack Anderson Says Politics Save Powell From Jail; Jury Probed Theft of Records

WASHINGTON — Gathering dust in the Justice Department is a carefully prepared case against Adam Clayton Powell, the happy-go-lucky Harlem globetrotter. The penalties add up to more than 150 years in jail terms and $300,000 in fines.

The draft indictment runs to some 30 pages, and the "prospective memorandum" detailing how the case can be prosecuted is the size of a book. These documents — and the crates of files that back them up — were laid aside by the Johnson administration.

The reason was political more than legal. Bit by bit the contents of these explosive files are being divulged to this column. They show how events and friends have conspired to keep the incorrigible Harlem Congressman out of indictment's way.

For example, on the day that the House ordered Powell to step aside, he led a raiding party of his more daring supporters to the House Labor Committee file room, where documents providing his excesses as committee chairman were everywhere.

Powell's Raiders There was not time for them to weed out only evidence that might harm him in the criminal case. So, like Visigoths, they loaded two years of files in cartons and departed with the spoils.

At the secret grand jury hearing, one eyewitness after another trooped into the U.S. Courthouse and testified to the theft. The Justice Department lawyers decided to seek an indictment charging Powell with stealing the documents.

Assistant Attorney General Fred Vinson went to Capitol Hill twice to talk with Speaker John McCormack about the charge. To prove Powell was a thief, he had to make sure Powell took them from the building and didn't merely secrete them among his personal papers.

But Vinson got nowhere with the craggy old Speaker, who is protective toward his congressional charges. Thus, the nimble Powell's theft of as many as 30 cartons of important House records went unchallenged and unprosecuted. And the documents were never seen again.

The draft indictment does charge Powell with dozens of cases of falsifying travel, per diem and expense vouchers during his last two years as committee chairman. But because Powell stole the files and because airline ticket records went back only two years, the criminal travel cases were limited to 1965-67. The FBI painstakingly reproduced many of the stolen files from airline data. House disbursing office records and other papers. What they found astounded them.

The chairman had falsified some $20,000 in vouchers and other pay records during the two years. The FBI found that Powell sent an envoy to Puerto Rico to reproach his wife — courtesy of the taxpayer. And a committee voucher provided him with an all-expenses-paid trip to the Caribbean where he won a gamelish tourney.

Besides the falsified vouchers, the grand jury also heard how Powell banked more than $20,000 in his wife's paychecks without her consent — a federal violation.

In the end, the Justice Department lawyers had enough for at least 50 potential criminal charges and began to weed them down for the indictment. They restudied the volumes of testimony to prepare their "prospective memorandum" and then sent it up through channels.

Five months later, the word came down. Attorney General Ramsey Clark was killing the case. The 23 members of the grand jury who had done their civic duty for so many months were distressed, uncomprehending. The probe was at an end.

Note: The Nixon administration not only has the Powell case but also a tax case against Sen. Tom Dodd, D-Conn. The Internal Revenue Service has recommended a criminal indictment. But the President, like his predecessor, needs Tom Dodd's vote on Defense, controversial appointments and other hairbreadth matters. Dodd also is on the Judiciary Committee, which has jurisdiction over the Justice Department. Nixon's Attorney General, John Mitchell, talks much of law and order. It will be interesting to see what he does about the law violations of Dodd and Powell.

TV Preparedness

The Office of Emergency Preparedness, as evidence of its preparedness for every eventuality, has efficiently allotted the space around the agency's TV sets for employees who wish to watch such great events on TV as President Nixon's press conferences.

In a memo to the executive staff, director of administration William B. Rice has explained: "To assure maximum availability of our TV receivers to OEP employees for unusual news events such as the President's press conferences, the following seating plan is established:

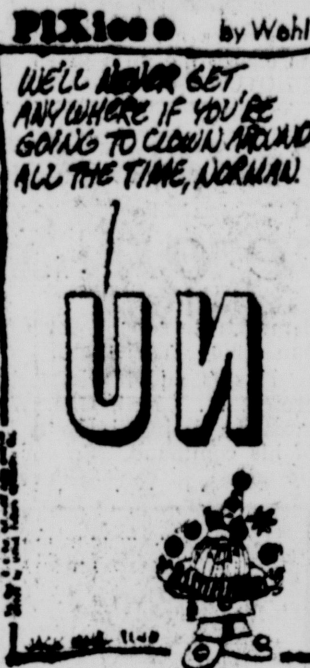

"Room 404 (capacity 20), 15 from NRAC and 5 from administration; room 326 (capacity 24) 19 from government preparedness and 5 from administration; room 327 (capacity 15) 15 from field operations; room 227 (capacity 19) personnel from information liaison and general counsel; DRM's office (capacity 25) personnel from tele-communications office; and room 210, director's staff, and planning review staff."

Nixon's Speech Foretold

Despite the advance secrecy on President Nixon's Vietnam speech, Jack Anderson revealed ahead of the speech what he was saying privately. These private quotes, taken from the secret minutes of his White House strategy talks, cropped up in more moderate form in the speech. For example, Jack Anderson quoted the President as expressing "deep fears" over the fate of the South Vietnamese in the event of a communist takeover. He has told intimates that Pope Paul expressed the same fears to him. The President was quoted as saying "When Ho Chi Minh took over North Vietnam, his crowd killed all the leading Catholics."

Jack Anderson reported that the President "would desperately like to end the war and extricate the U.S. from Vietnam. But he positively won't settle the war on communist terms. I don't intend to be the first President to lose a war," he has told subordinates.

President Nixon, in his Vietnam speech, said: "The question is how can we win America's peace? For the South Vietnamese, our precipitate withdrawal would inevitably allow the communists to repeat their massacres which followed their takeover of the North 15 years ago."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Italian; rather, he is pro-Mafia. He couldn't hang ducks on them like Murphy and McGinnity because he would have loused up a book and an election in the same year.

Kid Sally Palumbo is a leading character. Of him, Breslin says: "He couldn't run a gas station at a profit even if he stole the customers' cars." Then there is Big Jelly Catalano, 425 pounds of passion, who "always takes off his clothes when he eats."

Carmelo Russo, a young married lady who got fat on her own pasta and joined the Weight Watchers Club. She said she thought her marriage was falling because, two months ago, she caught her husband buying dirty books. Joe the Wop is the only man I knew who "dropped dead while being strangled." And, of course, Roz the Meter

Maid, who is "Big enough to be listed in Jane's Fighting Ships."

My favorite is Anthony Pastromo Sr., 66 years of age, who is the real boss of bosses in Brooklyn. He is five feet four, and drives his Cadillac with two cushions under him so that he doesn't have to look through the wheel, and a block of wood on the accelerator so that he can reach it.

At home they call him "Papa"; his friends call him Baccala. All of his family, his friends and his enemies have one thing in common: they're scared to death of him. Every morning after breakfast he requests his aged wife to please go out and start the Cadillac. As she does this, wearing the black uniform of all average Italian women, Baccala crouches on the kitchen floor with his arms tight over his head.

When the car does not blow up, he says "grazie" and walks out proudly to start the day's work. His office is the Lancer Trucking Company, but he has no trucks. "If Baccala wants a trucking company," Breslin writes, "he will steal one from a Jew." When there is no excitement in his heart, Baccala orders his hoods to drive over to the rival Palumbo section "just in case."

It is obvious that Breslin the Mick lived among the characters he paints. No man can invent authenticity. You know what you're writing about or you don't. When I was a teen-ager, I used to read Irish authors and they made the dialogue sound as though I was listening to my grandparents. It was real and honest and cut to the bone, like a pig's foot after a half hour between a good set of teeth.

I do not know Mr. Breslin. And yet, as an older second generation you-know-what, I suggest that he hang onto all his voices. A Lenten pledge of non-alcoholism, for example, might derail his talent and toss him into a terrible temper. God save us from what happened to Brendan Behan...

Soviet Jews

Friday, November 7th, marked the anniversary of the government of the Soviet Union. Many changes have taken place in the USSR during their 52 years of Soviet rule, but three million Soviet Jews fare little better than their ancestors did in Czarist times. It is true that there are no pogroms today, but under the Czar's Jews were permitted to schools, publishing facilities, cultural facilities, freedom of emigrate. These basic human rights are denied to 3,000,000 Soviet Jews today.

We of the Upstate Council of Youth for Soviet Jewry demand that the Soviets allow all Jews who wish the freedom to emigrate and grant all Jews who wish to remain the freedom to live as Jews in the USSR.

If you support our demands send a clipping of this letter

Flag Incident
Editor, The Freeman:

statements on the story about the teacher in the Saugerties High School flag incident. I am a 1969 graduate of Saugerties High. I took one subject from Mr. Roach, the dismissed teacher. I found him to be an excellent teacher. It is true that he was well liked by most of the student body. I also found, to some extent, that the administration was not in favor of him. It appeared to me that they disapproved, not of his teaching technique, but of his appearance, namely that he had a moustache and rather long hair. This is not in keeping with the strict old line policies of the school system. Obviously, a man such as this could not be tolerated by the "establishment." In this case the administration. I cannot say for a fact that the administration was looking for a good opportunity to dismiss him. But, the flag incident appeared to them to be a good way to be rid of him without causing any huge storm of protest by anyone. His views on the Vietnam War, are unknown to me. I don't know why they should really matter to anyone. I do suspect that he was in favor of peace as quickly as possible. However, I also believe he has some kind of firm conviction as to how the war can be ended honorably without hurting either side. Mr. Roach knew enough to avoid trouble with the administration. He obviously have spoken against it, and believed that the poster was not requested. He caused any huge scandal. He believed that it was doing harm to no one by leaving it up. My feeling is that it was his right to express his opinion in a classroom. If he wished the poster to remain up, it was his business. If the administration wished him to take it down, they simply had to ask him to take it down. There was no need to dismiss him.

The right of an American citizen to express his opinions is a right expressed in the Bill of Rights. Anyone who didn't like the idea of the poster, could

If the administration wished him to take it down, they simply had to ask him to take it down. There was no need to dismiss him.

I kindly request the Board of Education to make known its reasoning behind the dismissal of Mr. David Roach. Thank you for this opportunity to express myself.

Marine Corps News

Two Brothers Home

KINGSTON Marine Corps Recruiter, Staff Sgt. Donald R. Misner, reported that two Kingston brothers, Larry and George Carney, have returned to the United States after overseas duty in widely separated sections of the world.

Corporal Larry Carney recently returned from Vietnam after a year's tour of duty with the Third Marine Division. He is currently home on leave. While in Vietnam, Corporal Carney was wounded and received the Purple Heart Medal along with the Vietnam Campaign Medal and the Vietnam Service Medal.

Private First Class George Carney is a member of a Marine detachment aboard the USS Wasp. Carney recently returned from a North Atlantic cruise where the Wasp stopped in ports in Holland and the British Isles.

Sgt. Misner also reported that Private Ronald Phelps, of Kingston is currently home on 30-days leave after completing Marine recruit training and infantry training at Parris Island, C.C. and Camp Lejeune, N.C. Upon completion of leave Phelps will report to Memphis, Tenn., for training in aviation electronics.

In other Marine Corps news, PFC Robert Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gibson Jr. of Britton Drive, West Hurley, is serving with the Third Battalion First Marine Division in Vietnam.

When not engaged in major operations, Marines of the battalion participate in company and platoon size sweeps through the battalion area in search of enemy infiltrators. They also conduct civic action programs designed to aid the South Vietnamese people.

Marine PFC John Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller of 66 West Union Street, Kingston, is serving with the Second Shore Party Battalion, Second Marine Division at Camp Lejeune. The battalion provides a flow of equipment, troops and supplies for amphibious or helicopter operations.

Duty for Ensigns

Navy Ensigns Peter A. Tongue of Kingston and Jonathan R. Asher of Rhinebeck have been assigned duty in Pensacola, Fla. and Kamiseya, Japan, respectively.

Ensign Tongue is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tongue of 103 Emerson Street, recently graduated from the aviation officer course at the Naval Aviation School in Pensacola. The 11 week course included instruction in Naval history and world affairs, naval justice, leadership and orientation effective communications and physical fitness. He will now enter flight preparation school to continue his training.

Ensign Asher, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Asher of Violet Hill Road, Rhinebeck, is serving with the U.S. Naval Security Group Activity in Kamiseya, Japan. The base is a communications station which supports the work of the Seventh Fleet and U.S. military installations in the Far East.

Fireman Apprentice Augustus Wager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wager of 23 Livingston Street, Rhinebeck, has completed nine week of basic propulsion engineering school at Great Lakes, Ill. He is now attending a six week period of training in his own specialized rating.

Two local Navy men are serving together in the Seabees in Vietnam. Equipment Operator Third Class Frank Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stanley of 40 Garden Street, Kingston, is serving with Mobile Construction Battalion No. 7 in Vietnam. As is Equipment Operator Third Class Harry Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Simpson of Kerhonkson.

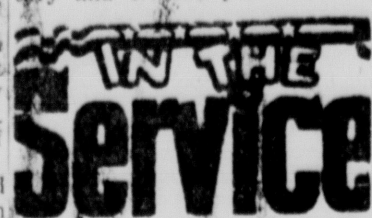

Equipment Operator Third Class John W. Linder, USN, son of Mrs. Marjorie Jackson of Samsonville Road, Kerhonkson, is serving with Naval Mobile Construction Battalion 121 in Gulfport, Miss.

As a member of this Seabee Battalion he is helping in disaster recovery operations in the area hit by hurricane Camille last August.

Aviation Machinist Mate Airman Apprentice Richard S. Mastri, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Mastri of White Schoolhouse Road, Rhinebeck, graduated from an aircraft maintenance course with Naval Air Maintenance Training Detachment 1098 at the U.S. Naval Air Station in Miramar, Calif.

The course dealt with a system of the F8 Crusader aircraft. Training Detachment 1098 provides Naval aircraft maintenance training to both military and civilian personnel.

Beef Is a Way of Life for People In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — In Argentina they tell the story of a foreign visitor whose limited Spanish allowed him to order only one type of food in restaurants—a "bife" or beefsteak. He never learned how to ask for anything else and ate steak three times a day until the day he left. The story ends there, but the visitor was so satisfied that he didn't want anything else, and that he had adopted their habit of eating meat at almost every meal.

In a nation where the pursuit of culinary pleasures competes with soccer and politics as the national pastime, and cattle raising is the largest single industry, the bife is the most popular of 183.7 pounds of beef last year mas de steak and chicken, sauteed beef kidneys, sweetbread, tender young goat, all broil spits around a charcoal fire.

Walk down a Buenos Aires street during the lunch or dinner hour, and tempting aromas of a parrilla in its front window costs between 71 and 86 U.S. cents. A juicy filet costs slightly more—between 86 cents and $1.71. An "asado de tira," a 12-ounce sirloin steak Brazilian or Colombian coffee made gaucha would kill, cook and passersby stop to watch cents. But the big surprise awaits! Add a portion of French fried where steak for both lunch and dinner is not uncommon, consumed and the diner gets the liter (almost one pint) of red.

For the most part, an inch wine and a small cup of strong years ago, when a hungry, no-14-ounce steak Brazilian or Colombian coffee made gaucha would kill, cook and passersby stop to watch cents. But the big surprise awaits! Add a portion of French fried where steak for both lunch and dinner is not uncommon, consumed and the diner gets the liter (almost one pint) of red.

Today's lean and tender steaks come from grass-fed, carefully bred herds made up of Hereford, Angus and Shorthorn stock. They are a far cry from the tough and stringy meat the gaucho ate.

Driver Cited After Accident In Plattekill

PLATTEKILL—Luther Demoney, 33, of Wallkill, was cited Saturday night by State Trooper C. J. Bebensee on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated, following a traffic mishap at the intersection of Route 4455 and Plattekill Road.

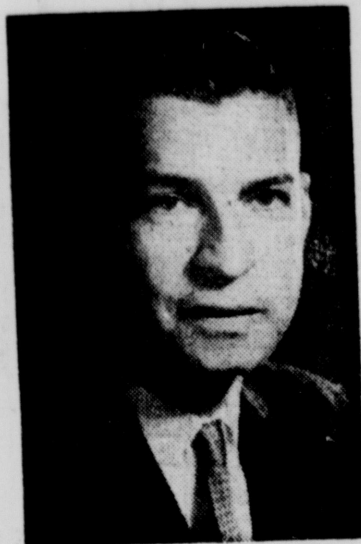

Troopers at Highland said the motorist took a blood test at Vassar Hospital. He was released in $100 bail by Town Justice James F. Palen who adjourned hearing until Nov. 21.

Leaf Collection

The Village of Rosendale will conduct leaf collection in the village on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday this week, Maurice Crookston of the Highway and Sanitation Departments said today.

Residents were asked to place their leaves in containers along the roadways for the collection.

Death — A Vietnam Memorial in Washington on Saturday. Community organizing and student canvassing here is not expected to reach the proportions of demonstrations of anti-war sentiment as on last month's Moratorium Day. Most of those who are being called "the great vocal minority" by their opponents will leave Ulster County demonstrations to the counter-demonstrators: show their opposition to the Vietnam War by marching in Washington.

Buses loaded with students, family groups and others who oppose the war will leave such central points as New Paltz, Woodstock, Kingston and Poughkeepsie as early as Thursday afternoon. Many will be sleeping free and eating cheaply in Washington churches and seminaries which will be opened to demonstrators by the Episcopal Youth Fellowship.

With hundreds leaving Ulster County for Washington, those left behind on campuses plan watered-down demonstrations. At UCC in Stone Ridge, these will take the form of a rally and a fast. At New Paltz, students will attempt to close down the campus by staying out of classes as they did in October, and by calling for a strike coinciding with the Moratorium on a matter still festering from last year when student representation and voting power on the governing committee was promised but never delivered.

Industrial Designer Plans for the Future

NEW YORK (UPI)—At age 76 industrial designer Raymond Loewy is immersed in the future. His concern is day-to-day living aboard space labora-

RAYMOND LOEWY AT WORK

His official job is a study of surface to hold down the future. Loewy, chairman of the firm Raymond Loewy-William Smith, Inc., has designed everything from refrigerators to the Studebaker Avanti, one of the more advanced cars of modern times. It is said he has affected the daily lives of Americans as much as any other man.

Since 1967 the French-born Loewy has been working with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) to develop a "habitability" study for the Apollo application project. Specifically he is doing early studies for space utilization in the advance space stations planned for the late 1970s.

These space complexes or laboratories will be inserted in earth's orbit and will be occupied by a crew of 12 at first. This number will be increased to 50 or 60 and eventually, complexes may be occupied by 100 and up to 200 crew members. They will be serviced by space "taxis" from earth.

He is guided by three major problems—weight, non-flammability and non-irritation of clothing, remembering always that it costs approximately $700 to put each pound into orbit. So spare underwear, for example, weighs almost nothing and can be rolled into a cigarette-sized package.

He is concerned more with "shirt sleeve" operations aboard the orbital space station

Big Difference Today in Ranching Out West

SPUR, Tex. (UPI)—Helicopters and light aircraft fly overhead, specially equipped pickups and jeeps ride the range, butane branding irons and two-way radios are everywhere.

There is a big difference between ranching today and back when the West was won.

The old West still can be found among the caves and hills on the big spreads of West Texas. New methods and ideas have changed the home on the range from the days when the country was being settled.

Just as in other industries, ranching is making room for the new breed.

At least a dozen big spreads are still operating along the Caprock of West Texas. Some are operated by one man while others still use bunkhouses for cowhands and run chuckwagons for meals as in years of old.

Jim Barron, dressed in khakis and a baseball cap and wearing work shoes instead of boots, is boss of the 12,000-acre Spur Ranch. An old-timer with the ranch, Barron heads the new generation of ranching and has helped make the changeover.

"We have about 500 mother cows," said Barron, a rugged but trim man. "We feed out our own calves in our lots and then ship them after they've been fattened. Some of the first hands on the Spur wouldn't believe we would do such a thing. They used to keep calves just long enough to ship them back to the corn belt to be fattened—and if they didn't ship them they would have cattle drives."

Barron works the Spur from the seat of a pickup truck, and has only six men helpin. "We don't use horses like we used to," he said. "We still have some work which has to be done on horse, but most of it can now be done by truck."

Barron said cattle were "gentler" now because of better care, and that they grew larger, quicker—helping the rancher to realize more money from his herd.

"We've made a lot of changes during my ranching days," Barron said. "Pastures have become smaller, and we've learned how to manage and take better care of cattle."

Just over the hill to the north lives what remains of the Matador Ranch, where the Old West still can be found among the caves and hills of the Ballard Springs, once the headquarters of one of the larger spreads in the state. The old natural springs, which still flow near the headquarters ranch house, are located a mile southwest of the town which bears their name.

Large 'Spred'

The old "spread" covering several counties have been sliced down into smaller ranches today, but the main headquarters still operates a cattle ranch at the old site with almost 100,000 acres to graze along the lower rim of the eastern edge of the historic ranchlands of the Stake Plains.

"We still don't feed our cattle," said Jim Cross, superintendent of the Matador. Cross, like others, is called superintendent instead of foreman.

"We use about 20 men to operate the ranch," said Cross, a tall, soft-spoken cowboy with

Cancer Group Has New Films

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society has announced several new films and booklets that discuss cancer problems and treatment.

Two new professional educational films for the medical profession that are available through the local unit are "Thyroid Cancer: Diagnosis and Treatment," and "Cancer Chemotherapy (Solid Tumors)."

A new professional educational film for pharmacists is called "The Pharmacist and Cancer." Nurses now have four new films called "Practical Approach to the Nursing Management of the Cancer Patients," "Caring for the Patient with a Colostomy," "Psychological Aspects of the Nurse-Patient Relationship in Cancer," and "Psychological and Aspects of the Nurse-Family Relationship in Cancer."

In addition, the local unit has available a new edition of the American Cancer Society folder for schools, "Why learn about Cancer," and a new four-page cartoon folder which tells women why they should have a Pap Test to protect themselves against uterine cancer.

CD Police Meet Tonight

KINGSTON

Members of the Kingston Ulster CD Auxiliary Police will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Odd Fellows Hall, Broadway and Brewster St.

This meeting will be in full uniform. All members are requested to attend this important special session.

a deep tan. "We don't run the chuckwagon any more—during roundups, branding and other major ranch events. The wagon is pulled by mules from line camp to line camp."

Two other west Texas ranches still under big operations, are the Pitchfork of Dickens County and the 6666 (Four-Sixes) of King County. The headquarters of The Forks appears to be a small town in itself. It runs eight miles on both sides of U.S. 82 east of Dickens, and the ranch covers 163,000 acres. The Pitchfork is one of the few ranches still operating a

However, most of the time the 16 men now working the ranch travel to and from the herd via pickups and jeeps and carry their horses via trailers. All vehicles are equipped with two-way radios so the hands always are in contact with the main ranch office.

"This way we can move faster, and still enjoy some of the comforts of home," manager Jim Humphreys said. While horses and pickups are the main methods of travel at The Pitchfork, the 6666 down the highway owns and uses a light airplane. It also has its own race track for training quarterhorses.

Modern Trappings

"We still brand and ear mark everything," said George Humphreys, boss of the spread established by Samuel Burk Burnett. "We tried the new process of freezing brands on cattle instead of burning them, but decided it was too slow. We have switched from wood to butane to increase speed and keep the irons at the same temperature all the time."

The 6666 holds 208,000 acres around its headquarters at Guthrie, and another range is located on 100,000 acres at Panhandle near the Texas-Oklahoma border.

"George (no relation to the Humphreys who runs The Pitchfork) is all rancher and a resident of Guthrie, the small town formed by the needs of the big ranch. "He's probably the best judge of horse flesh this big ranch country has ever known."

According to legend, the brand was devised to honor a winning poker hand. The story may not be true, but it's a good one; 666 people won't deny it to this very day.

Other Spreads Active

Lesser known but perhaps as big as many of the other combined is the O Bar O Ranch which still operates with 75,000 acres in the rolling plains at the foot of the Caprock. Billy Wallace, now boss, is a descendant of J.S. Wallace who actually put the spread together in the 1890s. The younger Wallace has lived on the land since 1928.

Today we use two-way radios to keep in constant contact, where during the early days we may have been a day or two's ride from the main house," said Wallace, 48, a short, stocky man with graying hair. "The distance to water for the cattle has been shortened, pastures are smaller and cowboys fight more cattle diseases."

Cowboys, once found anywhere, anytime, across the Southwest, are fewer now. "Help is the big difference," said George White, a rugged type of cowboy who was born on the Yellowhouse Ranch during the days it was the eighth division of the famed

XIT. "Used to be you could get all the help you wanted, and still have cowpokes asking for jobs. Today, you're lucky if you can get a group of high school and college boys to work for you—and during special things like roundups and spraying you even have to call on sheriff posses."

Perhaps that is one of the reasons giants spreads like the XIT, The Spade and the Bar X have been broke into smaller ranches now—one man operations where neighbors come to help with the spraying, roundups and other big chores. The ranch of old today only on TV.

Abandon Search For Liberian Tanker, 28 Men

NEW YORK (UPI) — The States, split Wednesday during a violent storm. In its last radio message, 40 miles from where the bodies were found, the Keo said the ship's crewmen all were on the stern section.

A spokesman said Sunday there is "always a possibility" the search will be resumed if any hopeful evidence is discovered. Ships sailing through the area 240 miles southeast of Nantucket have been asked to look for more bodies or debris.

The 639-foot tanker, carrying oil from Europe to the United States, split Wednesday during a violent storm. In its last radio message, 40 miles from where the bodies were found, the Keo said the ship's crewmen all were on the stern section.

That half of the ship was not found, although the bow of the Keo, debris, lifejackets, a lifeboat and a small raft were seen in waters nearby that the Coast Guard said were thick with sharks.

The search by five Coast Guard cutters, a plane and helicopter and civilian ships in the area discovered the eight bodies, none of which was identified. The crew included 32 Greek nationals and four men from Colombia.

NO DOUBT ABOUT IT!

With cyclamate out and a touch of sugar in—new Diet Pepsi tastes better than original Diet Pepsi!

Diet Pepsi-Cola, America's No. 1 diet cola, is here, now—with the cyclamates out and tasting all the better for it! Like all soft-drink companies, Pepsi-Cola Company was given till January 1 to deliver non-cyclamate products to you. Pepsi-Cola Company didn't wait.

You can do better without cyclamates. So can Diet Pepsi.

And we're ready to prove it. Our new Diet Pepsi contains a little bit of sugar—a touch of pure, natural sweetness that gives it a real Pepsi taste with less than a third of the calories in regular cola.

New cyclamate-free Diet Pepsi is now in stores in your neighborhood!

Look for the Diet Pepsi cartons with a bright yellow band announcing: "Sugar added—no cyclamates!" as you see above.

Science Shrinks Painful Hemorrhoids Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

Finds Way That Both Relieves Pain and Shrinks Piles In Most Cases

New York, N.Y. (Special): Science has found a special formula with the ability, in most cases—to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching and relieve pain.

In case after case doctors proved, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. The secret is Preparation H®. There is no other formula for hemorrhoids like it. Preparation H also soothes irritated tissues and helps prevent further infection. In ointment or suppository form.

Still Seek Boy

BALLSTON SPA, N.Y. (UPI)—Authorities continued to search today for Lawrence Baumgartner, 6, missing in the area of Kaderosse Creek since Sunday afternoon.

The boy was last seen with playmates near the shallow creek, not far from his home. After a several hours search of the creek, the Saratoga County sheriff's office declined to say the boy had drowned, and announced that he was considered "missing."

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Baumgartner of 75 Mill St.

New Diet Pepsi On Sale Here

KINGSTON, N.Y. (UPI)—Pepsi-Cola Company has announced it is marketing its new Diet Pepsi in this city.

C. Thomas Tenney, president of the Pepsi-Cola Newburgh Bottling Co., Inc., pointed out the soft drink contains absolutely no cyclamates.

"We have added natural sugar," he said, "whose caloric content is less than four calories per ounce. This means that the new Diet Pepsi has only one-third the calories of a regular cola."

Tenney said Diet Pepsi-Cola Company cannot in good conscience offer its customers any products about which even the remotest doubt exists. This was in reference to the recent ban placed on cyclamates by the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

Tenney also stated that special care has been taken to alert diabetics to the sugar content of the new Diet Pepsi. "For some people even a teaspoon of sugar is considered harmful. We are carefully labeling new Diet Pepsi cartons and wraps in bold type to warn diabetics and other persons who must restrict their intake of sugar that the new product has sugar added," Tenney said.

Early Yule Spirit At Nursing Home

By JEAN F. DOLAN

KINGSTON

The Christmas spirit is coming early for some senior Santa's helpers but they need help to carry out their plans.

Patients at Hadler's Nursing Home, 208 Albany Avenue, wish to continue their project of rehabilitating dolls for Christmas giving to the needy. Last year through their contributions and efforts 35 dolls with bright faces and fancy dresses were presented to Toys for Tots for area distribution.

This year the shortage of dolls to dress is seriously hampering the project and an appeal has been issued for discarded dolls to be prepared for Christmas Organizations, church groups or individuals may leave donations at the nursing home or call to arrange pick up of articles.

Dolls are washed and then dressed with garments fashioned by the patients.

Pansie Reed, an 80 year old patient who has been a resident at the home for 12 years, is in charge of the crochet boutique. She creates tiny sweaters, booties and mittens for the dolls while other elderly patients sew dresses and undergarments.

Mrs. John Buytkins, nurse in charge, said it is wonderful the contribution senior citizens can make to the community when they are given the opportunity. Good deeds reward the doer too. Mrs. Buytkins said last year's holiday project was a great morale booster. The nursing home was alive with Christmas spirit as a result of the patients' part in giving of their talents to make the day brighter for needy children.

To date this year, only eight dolls have been rounded up for facelifting and fashion updating. More are needed desperately if the project is to be a success. There are only so many sewing days until Christmas.

Fire Kills Three

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—Three men were killed Sunday when fire swept the lower floor of a three-story brick apartment house on the city's east side.

Police identified the dead as Robert Young, 41, Fred Parker, 40, and Douglas Walker, about 40, all of Buffalo.

Careless smoking was listed as the cause of the fire. Damages were set at $7,000. The three men died of smoke inhalation, officials said.

Lindsay Wants Major Role in Forming '70 GOP Ticket

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—Mayor John V. Lindsay wants a major role in forming the 1970 Republican state ticket as the price of his support.

Lindsay, who won re-election as an independent liberal, has reaffirmed his GOP affiliation but feels some changes must be made at the state level. One source said the mayor will demand that Governor Rockefeller dump Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson as his running mate next year. Wilson and Lindsay have been at political odds for years and the breaking point came in June, when State Sen. John J.

Marchi opposed and beat the mayor in the GOP primary. Lindsay accused Wilson of masterminding the primary battle.

After the primary, Rockefeller gave Marchi a hearted endorsement, but Wilson went all the way. So did the lieutenant governor's close friend, Sen. Earl W. Brydges, Republican majority leader.

Wilson was the only GOP major elective officeholder to openly back Marchi in the election campaign. Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz and the state's two U. S. senators, Jacob K. Javits and Charles E. Goodell, backed Lindsay.

"We know who encouraged Marchi to oppose John," one of Lindsay's backers said.

"How can the mayor support the state ticket if Wilson is the candidate for lieutenant governor? If you vote for governor, it also counts for the lieutenant governor."

Party leaders want Lindsay to keep his anti-Wilson feelings to himself. Any move to bench the lieutenant governor against his will would split the GOP wide open.

The Rockefeller-Wilson combination has been considered ideal from a political standpoint. Rockefeller carries a liberal label and Wilson appeals to the conservatives. Together, they attract support from both factions of the GOP.

The governor's close associates are studying the results of Tuesday's off-year election. At first glance, they feel the swing to the right came to an abrupt halt and a conservative complexion might not be attractive in a statewide race.

Results in Buffalo, for example, where Mayor Frank Sedita turned back Mrs. Alfreda W. Slominski, Republican Conservative, and Lindsay's win against law-and-order candidates in New York City will be important in the thinking of those responsible for getting the state ticket together.

The Republican loss in Syracuse, where Lee Alexander, a Democrat, took over City Hall, is another development which must be weighed. Central New York has been considered a conservative stronghold and what state leaders want to know is why the Onondaga Republicans suffered such a major loss.

Republican candidates did well in Rochester and Binghamton, but not so in Albany or Troy.

In Albany, the GOP organization just about held its own or slipped from gains made last year. In Troy, however, it was a different story. The Republican organization suffered its biggest defeat in history. Troy was a special case. But in Albany, the only thing new was that both parties campaigned harder.

It will take Rockefeller and his political advisers awhile to come up with the answers. But one thing is certain:

The governor would never dump his old friend and running mate merely for personal political gain.

JOHN LINDSAY

More Money for Veteran State Employees If They Retire Rather Than Keep Working

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Veteran state employees are discovering by the hundreds that it's possible to make more money by retiring than if they stayed on the job.

This somewhat Utopian situation developed from the state's newly improved pension plan—when combined with the benefits of Social Security and income tax advantages.

For example, take the case of a Transportation Department district engineer who is retiring this month from his $29,000-a-year job at the age of 67, three years earlier than the mandatory retirement age.

With 45 years service completed, he will be entitled to a state pension of about $24,000 a year—that is, 83 per cent of the annual salary he averaged during his last three years on the job. In addition, he can draw Social Security benefits of nearly $2,000 a year.

This will bring him to about $26,000—still short of his present gross income. But all of his income will be exempt from the state income tax and only about half of the pension will be subject to the federal tax. So, his annual net income will be several thousand dollars higher than if he continued working.

This happy prospect—for the engineer—resulted from an improvement in the pension plan enacted by the 1969 legislature. It covers not only state employees but also local government workers who belong to the State Employees' Retirement System, administered by Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The new plan entitles an employee to retire at half pay after completing 25 years service. Previously, he would have to complete 30 years of service to be eligible for half-pay retirement.

The revised plan also improved the percentages for longer-service employees, right along the line. Graduating steadily upward, the plan provides for two-thirds pay after 35 years of service, 75 per cent after 40 years, 80 per cent after 43 years and 90 per cent after 49 years and so forth.

Under the old plan, it took five years longer to reach each of these plateaus.

Levitt's office reported that the new plan very definitely has accelerated retirement by long-term employees. Last year, the agency processed about 500 retirements a month. Since April it has been averaging an additional 150 monthly—a 30 per cent increase.

A spokesman said the new plan appears to be especially attractive to lower-salaried employees, such as laborers, for whom social security payments make up a greater percentage of their income.

For instance, a worker averaging $5,000 a year after 46 years service could draw a pension of $4,250 a year—plus perhaps another $1,000 in Social Security benefits—and thus actually exceed his present gross income.

And don't forget the tax benefits. Once he reaches 65, he is entitled to a double exemption on his federal income tax, so that he could wind up paying almost no tax at all.

These figures cited above presume that the retired employee will elect to draw his full pension. Some choose to receive a reduced amount, in return for a guarantee of continued payments to their beneficiaries after they die.

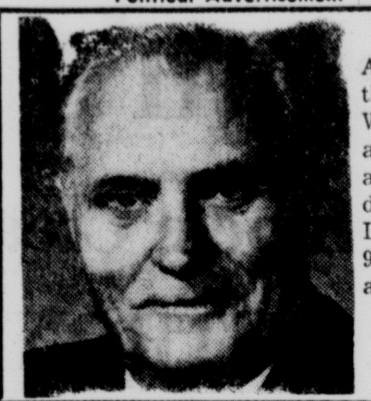

This was the case with J. Burch McMorran, the retired state transportation commissioner who stepped down in July at the age of 70 after more than 50 years of state service.

McMorran's average annual salary for the last three years was $39,600, and he was entitled to a maximum pension of $39,200 a year. Levitt's office reported, however, that McMorran elected to exercise the beneficiary option, and he settled for a state pension of $31,260 a year.

He also became eligible for Social Security benefits of nearly $2,000 a year—for a total gross of $33,260, most of it tax exempt.

PO to Seek Bids for Office In Ulster Town

KINGSTON, Nov. 24. Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk said today that the post office will accept bids on the operation of a contract station in the town of Ulster on Vincent Street until Nov. 24.

Deer Jacking Is Charged to Kingston Man

HURLEY Joseph Dugan Jr., 25 of 25 Green Street, Kingston, was arrested late Sunday night and charged with hunting a wild deer with an artificial light on Hurley Mountain.

Arraigned before Town Justice Robert Ferrigan, Dugan was fined $10.50 and his 16 gauge shotgun and spotlight were confiscated by Conservation Department officers. Sheriff Deputy Donald Policastro, in making his report, said that he found Dugan sitting in a car pointing his loaded shotgun out a window in the direction of a cornfield where deer are known to roam. Dugan reportedly had five rounds of ammunition in his possession as well as the spotlight.

Man Subdued In Hijack Try

CINCINNATI (UPI) — An unidentified man wielding a knife and using a young girl as a hostage boarded Delta Airline Flight 670 at Greater Cincinnati Airport today. He was subdued and taken from the plane before it took off. Airport officials said the pilot radioed the control tower he had a hijacker on board. The plane was loading passengers for a flight to Chicago when the incident took place.

The 89-seat jet had landed here from Lexington, Ky. The Greater Cincinnati Airport is located across the Ohio River from Cincinnati near Florence, Ky.

Mabletown BA Meets Tonight

STONE RIDGE The Mabletown Businessmen's Association—a long time opponent of the presently proposed Zoning Ordinance for Mabletown—will meet here tonight at 8 o'clock in the Stone Ridge Firehouse.

A spokesman declined to elaborate on the meeting, but indications are that it will center around the ordinance now before the town board for consideration.

Fire Damages Highland Home

HIGHLAND Fire believed to have been caused by an exploding space heater completely gutted a one-story frame house about one mile outside this community on Old Route 299 this morning.

Chief Joseph Valentino, who responded to an alarm shortly before 7:30 a. m. with about 35 volunteer firefighters, said the house was occupied by a family named Relyea. He said there were no injuries.

A tanker from New Paltz was dispatched to the scene to assist through mutual aid.

Offices to Close

All Ulster County Community Action Offices, including the Central Office, the Neighborhood Service Centers in Highland, Rondout, Walkkill, Saugerties, Wawarsing and the Head Start Center will be closed all day Tuesday, Nov. 11 in observance of Veterans Day.

Wig Hut Correction

Saugerties Fourth Graders Visit Camp Site Of Washington

BLUE MOUNTAIN
The fourth grade class of Mrs. Juanita Anthony, Grant D. Morse School, recently took a field trip to Washington's Headquarters in Newburgh. The students were accompanied by Mesdms. Paul Buntele, George Fetty, Everett Hitchcock, William LaVigne, Arthur Ricks and Vincent Wodzinski. They toured the grounds, the museum, and the Hasbrouck House where General Washington lived with 50 soldiers during the years of 1782 and 1783. It was during this time that the "Order of the Purple Heart" was established. This site has the distinction of being the first historic preservation by any state in the United States.

The trip was planned as part of the social studies curriculum.

Glasco Assembly Observes U.N. Anniversary Day

GLASCO
The Fifth Grade Social Studies classes of Glasco School held an assembly program recently in honor of the 24th birthday of the United Nations. Mrak Becker was the opening announcer, and after the flag salute and singing of "America," introduced Kathy Detschel who explained how and why the United Nations was formed. A birthday poem, "United Nations Day," was recited by Pamela Courselle. A special visit to the lobby of the United Nations Building was presented by Glasco School's roving reporter, Jacob Wallach. He interviewed representatives of the various U.N. committees who explained what their jobs in the U.N. family entailed. These representatives were Daniel Cartmell, Keith Hudak, James Julliano, Colleen Neff, Janet Poythress, Harry Richter, and Debra Ward. Paul Brazier introduced a choral reading group who explained the specific function of UNICEF and what it means to children throughout the world. This was followed by the singing of "It's a Small, Small World."

After the final song by the Up With People group, "A New Tomorrow," Erica Keuning called upon all the young people to help establish a world of peace and understanding.

This excellent program was planned and directed by Mrs. Anita Millikofsky, grade five social studies teacher. Assisting with the musical portion of the assembly was David Nascimbeni, vocal music instructor.

Onteora Board Continues Study Of Curriculum

BOICEVILLE
Membership on the Onteora Board of Education means more than a monthly business meeting. Since Sept. 8, the Onteora Board has been studying the various phases of curriculum in a series of workshop meetings. These workshops afford the members of the Board of Education and opportunity to explore in depth specific curriculum areas with the teachers, department chairmen, and administrators working in the various subject areas. To date, the Board of Education has participated in workshops dealing with physical education and interscholastic athletics, Sept. 8; driver education, Sept. 15; elementary curriculum goals, Oct. 6; occupational education, Nov. 3. Scheduled for the future are: Foreign languages, Nov. 10; English and reading, Dec. 1; social studies, Jan. 5; art and music, Jan. 12; and math and science, Feb. 2.

"Boards of Education have many commitments of their unsalaried time and efforts, wrestling with the problems of today's schools," commented Dr. Harold R. Snyder, superintendent of schools. "The Onteora Board has always been willing to spend extra time to thoroughly understand the educational program and the educational program is 'where it's at.' The Board should be commended for spending extra time on the educational aspects of the program," he said.

Traffic Club To Hold Panel

POUGHKEEPSIE
The Mid-Hudson Traffic Club will hold a panel and audience discussion on transportation problems in Aloys Garden Restaurant, Garden Street, Poughkeepsie, Nov. 12 starting at 7:30 p.m. Panel members will include Ronald L. Cleek of American Airlines, James Lippert of the Penn-Central Railroad, Ralph Achilli of the Transcon Freight Lines, F. Allen Pitts of Stauffer Chemical Company, Joseph Mahar of Western Publishing and Eugene Hejmanowski of IBM World Trade.

SQUEEZING O. J. — Buffalo Bills' O. J. Simpson makes a four-yard third quarter gain as Buffalo guard Billy Shaw (66) throws a block against Jet Ralph Baker (51) who finally brought Simpson down. Jets won game 16-6. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

The Saga at Shea

“Sorry, Buddy--But”

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Dan Darragh threw up his hands in triumph as O.J. Simpson bolted into the end zone.

“Sorry, buddy,” an official told the Buffalo quarterback... and dropped a bright, yellow flag at his feet.

Simpson’s two-yard plunge for an apparent first quarter touchdown in Sunday’s American Football League struggle at rain-swept Shea Stadium was nullified by an illegal motion penalty called against the Bills’ super rookie.

Buffalo never crossed the goal line again, despite two more deep penetrations, as the Jets hung on for a 16-6 victory that extended their winning string to six games—a club record.

When Jim Turner’s third field goal sealed the verdict with 23 seconds remaining, Simpson was a frustrated phenom and Darragh was on the sidelines with a separated right shoulder that will finish him for the year.

“The effect of having that touchdown called back—and then not even getting the field goal—had to take a lot out of them,” said Jets’ defensive end Gerry Philbin, who helped repulse the Bills after first half drives that reached the 2, 15 and 18-yard lines.

“I thought I’d stopped moving before he (Darragh) started the count,” said Simpson, who was detected stepping forward before the snap as the Buffalo quarterback called an audible from the Jets’ two midway in the opening period.

“I saw it,” said Jets’ Coach Weeb Ewbank, “and the guy dropped the flag right away.”

Three plays later, Paul Crane blocked a 13-yard field goal attempt by Bruce Alford, who was to miss two subsequent three-point tries before hitting from 20 and 29 yards for the Bills’ only points.

Turner made good on three of four, from 37n, 25 and 47 yards, after Bill Mathis bulled one yard for the game’s lone touchdown to give the Jets a 7-3 half-time edge.

Simpson’s 70 rushing yards in 14 carries were high for the game. But an 11-yard fourth quarter scamper was his long gainer against a keyed-up Jet line on a muddy field.

They Didn’t Come to Play

Sad Day for Alex

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—“We didn’t get to him once, did we?” head coach Alex Webster asked.

“They protected him,” Webster added.

Webster didn’t even talk to his New York Giants players as he walked into the dressing room, took a seat and invited newsmen around him. Of his Giants, Webster said, “They didn’t come here to play.”

Webster talked of the tremendous protection the St. Louis Cardinals gave quarterback Charley Johnson in handing the Giants their fourth consecutive setback in National Football League play 42-17 Sunday.

In the other dressing room, Cardinal head coach Charley Winner praised losing quarterback Fran Tarkenton who failed to get the pass protection the Cardinal line gave Johnson.

“Our line did a great job for the quarterback,” said Winner. Webster said, “We had no pass rush.”

Johnson appeared to have all the time necessary for sharp shooting passes. He completed 9 of 14, good for 146 yards, including a 10-yard pass to running back Johnny Roland for the first score, Roland added a two-yard touchdown and a three-yard touchdown to complete his three touchdown contribution in the first half.

Johnson’s passes brought the ball into New York’s territory throughout the game, and in the fourth period Roy Shivers nadded the Cardinal score with a four-yard touchdown run.

Winner then pulled Johnson, and Jim Hart took over, bringing the 49,194 fans to their feet with a 60-yard touchdown pass to John Gilliam.

Webster said that the Cardinals “have excellent receivers.” Of Gilliam’s catch at the goal line, Webster said, “That Gilliam is something, I’ve seen

We have new Head skis for everyone. Everyone?

Believe it. We have new Head Skis for everybody, including Jean-Claude Killy. In fact, Killy helped design Head's new Killy 800 fiberglass racing ski. It's red, it's hot, and it's durable. Which puts it in a class by itself.

We've got the Head 720, too, an all new medal-winning ski that begins a whole new class of metal racing gear.

Head's 320E is the only moderately priced ski with today's narrow waisted sidecut. It's the perfect transition ski for moving toward more advanced intermediate into the race category.

For the new skier or bargain hunter: the Head 240, bright blue, tough, supple, and priced just as sensibly as it is engineered. This year, even the good old 360 is a little better.

We've also got new Head DPs for the deep powder fanatic, improved Head Shortkiss for easy learning, and the new Head JR60 and JR90 for the kids.

When we say we've got new Heads for everyone, we mean everyone. Come on in and get yours.

Vikings De-Kappitate Browns, 51-3

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An emotional binge—helped along by Joe Kapp and Gene Washington—sent the Minnesota Vikings storming to a 51-3 romp over the Cleveland Browns in a match-up of National Football League Century and Central division leaders Sunday.

The Browns, of course, know all about these emotional things. They enjoyed one of their own last Sunday when they ran over the Dallas Cowboys 42-10.

Coach Blanton Collier can only hope that Cleveland bounces back as well as the Cowboys did. Dallas showed it the effect Sunday of last week's Browns binge. The Cowboys knocked off New Orleans 33-17 to remain comfortably in front of the NFL's Capitol Division.

In other NFL games Sunday, St. Louis walloped New York 42-17, Philadelphia and Washington battled to a 28-28 tie, Los Angeles ripped San Francisco 41-30, Detroit took Atlanta 37-21, Baltimore dumped Green Bay 14-6 and Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 38-7.

Kapp and Washington teamed for three touchdown passes, one of them on a play changed at the line of scrimmage which surprised not only the Browns, but the Vikings as well. Kapp finished with 16 completions in 24 attempts for 223 yards.

Kapp capped a sensational first half performance with his third TD pass to Washington—a one-yard scoring flip which only the quarterback and his wide receiver knew was coming.

There were 16 seconds left in the half and the Browns threw an 11-man rush-line at Kapp. The quarterback looked over to Washington, who was flanked wide, waved to let him in on the plan and hit him easily.

The Viking signal caller didn't bother alerting the rest of his offensive unit but it hardly mattered.

The Packers fell two games off Minnesota's pace when they were beaten by undermanned Baltimore.

The Colts started without tight end John Mackey and lost his replacement, Tom Mitchell, as well as wide receiver Jimmy Orr with injuries in the course of the game. But quarterback Johnny Unitas resorted to a ball control offense that kept the Packers at bay.

Chicago had to make adjustments, too. For the first time all season, the Bears won and scored and completed nine of 15 found themselves for the first time with the pleasant problem of giving out game balls. The Bears decided to award three to the defensive unit but won't decide who gets 'em until they look at films of their victory over Pittsburgh. The defense forced two safeties.

Kingston Driver 20th in Can-Am

KINGSTON — Ron Goldleaf of Kingston placed 20th in the Canadian-American Challenge Cup race Sunday at the Texas International Speedway at College Station, Texas, Saturday.

Goldleaf, driving a new car, finished 44 laps behind the winner, Bruce McLaren of New Zealand. The local driver is a regular circuit rider and his showing Sunday was his best in the big time.

Driving at speeds of more than 210 miles an hour, McLaren, finished 87 seconds ahead of the runnerup, George Eaton of Toronto to capture the 11-race circuit for the season with 165 points and total earnings of $158,750.

The New Zealander, driving out of Colnbrook, England, won his sixth Can-Am event of the 11-race series to push his point total to 165, five more than teammate Dennis Hulme.

McLaren, who became the first Can-Am driver to win the challenge cup twice, said the 85-degree heat bothered him. “When I got out of the car after the race I started feeling funny and had to go for a drive in the pace-car,” McLaren said.

The first place winner also won in 1967, Hulme, who won it last year, dropped out late in the race with a broken piston.

Hulme, the leader in points this year going into this event, ran ahead of McLaren for 45 laps. Mario Andretti, the Indianapolis 500 winner, led the first four laps.

Then Hulme took the lead and held it until McLaren passed him in front of the grandstand at the beginning of the 46th lap of the 70-lap, 210-mile race. Andretti went out on the 19th lap with engine trouble and Hulme dropped out on the 59th lap. Both were running second at the time.

Canadian George Eaton finished second, 1:27 behind McLaren, who was timed at 210.527 miles an hour on the straightaway of the 60th lap, averaged 109.815 for the race, the first on this 88 million northwest of Houston.

Australian Jack Brabham, the last of the 26 drivers to enter, finished third and Jo Siffert of Friburgo, Switzerland, drove his Porsche into fourth. Chuck Parsons of Beertfield, Ill., who finished third in the over all point standings, came in fifth despite spinning out three times.

There were no major accidents on the flat curving road course in Southeast Texas.

McLaren got the $50,000 first place money by winning the challenge cup and earned another $10,000, plus manufacturers awards, for winning the Texas International event.

He and Hulme also won the Can-Am's team prize of $350,000. Hulme received another $35,000 for finishing second in the overall standings with 160 points, five behind McLaren.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—Final point standings in this year's 11-race Canadian-American Challenge Cup series, which ended Sunday:

Then Hulme took the lead and held it until McLaren passed him in front of the grandstand at the beginning of the 46th lap of the 70-lap, 210-mile race. Andretti went out on the 19th lap with engine trouble and Hulme dropped out on the 59th lap. Both were running second at the time.

Canadian George Eaton finished second, 1:27 behind McLaren, who was timed at 210.527 miles an hour on the straightaway of the 60th lap, averaged 109.815 for the race, the first on this 88 million northwest of Houston.

Australian Jack Brabham, the last of the 26 drivers to enter, finished third and Jo Siffert of Friburgo, Switzerland, drove his Porsche into fourth. Chuck Parsons of Beertfield, Ill., who finished third in the over all point standings, came in fifth despite spinning out three times.

There were no major accidents on the flat curving road course in Southeast Texas.

McLaren got the $50,000 first place money by winning the challenge cup and earned another $10,000, plus manufacturers awards, for winning the Texas International event.

He and Hulme also won the Can-Am's team prize of $350,000. Hulme received another $35,000 for finishing second in the overall standings with 160 points, five behind McLaren.

Knicks Keep Pouring It on

By United Press International

The streaking New York Knicks resemble a runaway express as they continue to widen their lead in the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

Coach Red Holzman's club rolled to its ninth straight win and 14th in 15 games this season by trimming the Los Angeles Lakers 112-102 Sunday night. The game Lakers, playing without injured Wilt Chamberlain, made a contest of it for three periods before the Knicks pulled away.

Big Willis Reed poured in 35 points in leading the Knicks scoring attack. Dick Barnett had 21 and Bill Bradley 21. Hot shooting Reed now has scored 130 points in the past four games.

Jerry West paced the Lakers with 27 points and Elgin Baylor needed 24.

The victory may have been a costly one for the Knicks who lost the services of veteran forward Dave DeBusschere, who suffered a broken nose in a collision with Mel Counts. It was not known how long DeBusschere would be out of the lineup.

In the only other NBA action Sunday night Baltimore downed Milwaukee 116-105 to move into second place in the Eastern Division, 5 1/2 games behind the torrid Knicks and Phoenix rolled to a 140-129 triumph over Detroit.

Kevin Loughery led Baltimore to victory with 27 points and Earl Monroe had 24. Lew Alcindor and Len Chappel paced the Bucks with 24 each.

Connie Hawkins, hitting on 16 of 23 from the floor and three of three from the free throw line, led Phoenix with 35 points

Major Improvements Await Skiers at Hunter Slopes

HUNTER And now Hunter has gone beyond that. For the 1969-1970 ski season, Hunter has made major trail improvements and additions, including some slight changes on a cheater trail, plus snowmaking, which will make it easier for more people to ski in the vicinity of K-27 and to properly gauge its challenge before attempting it themselves. There has been a major addition in snowmaking potential, with 25 per cent more snowmaking capability. More than 125 acres of slopes and trails, serviced by all 12 lifts, are covered by more than 200 snowguns on a round-the-clock basis. Additionally, a new ski school on all challengers and made area, complete with tow, snow makers and absolute time, there were slopes and front of the base lodge. Now, novice skiers can learn the sport free from any worries about other skiers on the same slopes.

Other additions at Hunter are less visible — but equally important. The parking lot is being cleared and re-surfaced, which will assure quicker clearance of snow and better grading for cars. There has been a complete repaving of the mountain portion of 23-A, major access road leading to Hunter mountain. Five miles of mountain lift lines and trails have been carved out of the West Face of the Colonel's Chair. This is an experiment to see how the snow holds and will be used only by invited guests and ski touring groups this season. All this could very well be a continuing story of major developments at Hunter — a story that will unfold in the next ten years and a story with an ending that will make Hunter one of the top ski resorts in the country. Whatever happens it will be an interesting 10 year!

For ten years now, as skiing has increased in popularity, Hunter Mountain Ski Bowl has kept pace with that increase and has even gone beyond it. Now, perched on the threshold of its 11th season, Hunter Mountain, "The Giant of the Catskills" is looking forward to another decade of continued upswing in skiing, and another decade of expansion and improvement.

Last season, the new trail, K-27, showed the experts what it was all about. For the first time, there appeared on the Catskill scene a trail that even experts couldn't tackle all the time. Nestled high on the Colonel's Chair slopes, K-27 took on all challengers and made them toe the mark. For the first time, there were slopes and trails for every phase of skiing ability — from pure novice to the seasoned expert.

The staged accident on the second day of the course involved a mock automobile crash where several persons appeared to be suffering from various injuries requiring first aid treatment.

Patrolmen were separated into groups of 15 persons each and were required to perform various first aid tasks. Practical experience in bandaging and stretcher bearing were required in assisting the victims of the trial car crash.

Among the members of the Trailsweepers Ski Club of Kingston who attended and participated in the first aid refresher course were: C. B. Dewey, Edgar H. SPONSOR BOWLING LEAGUE—Chester Feinberg (C), general manager of Standard Furniture, with officials of the 18-team booster bowling league in Kingston which Standard is wholly sponsoring (L-R) Lynn Combs, vice president; Jack Doyle, secretary-treasurer; Feinberg; Walt Dougherty, president; and Ed Murphy, a Standard employee.

Standard Furniture Sponsors Pin League

ALBANY

Standard Furniture has undertaken the sponsorship of the 18-team Kingston Booster Bowling League in Kingston which is now to be known as the Standard Furniture Kingston Booster League.

The league is the first ever sponsored wholly by a non-industrial firm in the city of Kingston. It also happens to be the second oldest tenpin circuit in the city.

Ed Murphy, a long time Kingston bowler, who is on the sales staff, was instrumental in having the company sponsor the league. In the near future, the 90 members of the 18 teams will be outfitted with special shirts with the store's name imprinted on them.

Officers of the local league are Walt Dougherty, president; Lynn Combs, vice president and Jack Doyle, secretary-treasurer.

Sponsor Four Leagues

The addition of the Kingston league brings to four the number of bowling leagues which Standard Furniture now sponsors.

In addition to Kingston, Standard sponsors the Women's Individual League in Albany which is composed of the leading women bowling stars in the capital district, who compete in singles instead of team play. The winner is generally accepted as the best woman bowler of the year in the Albany area.

Standard also sponsors the Standard Furniture Women's League in Troy and a men's league in Albany.

Standard's background as one of the biggest, if not the biggest bowling sponsors in the area, began about 30 years ago when Chester Feinberg was an active bowler. Recognizing that bowling was the country's No. 1 participant sport and that thousands of Standard's customers participated in this to a greater extent than some of the other sports activities, a campaign was launched to identify Standard as a leading sponsor of the sport.

Another First

The company was co-sponsor of the first Albany Match Game Tournament almost 30 years ago and in the middle 1940's was the first and only sponsor of the Albany Individual Men's League that attracted the top male stars in the area.

As a feeder to the men's league, Standard was first and only sponsor of the Junior Men's Individual League. In addition, the firm co-sponsored with the Albany Times-Union, the Husband-Wife Tournament which follows the regular bowling season.

The Standard Furniture team in Kingston rolls its games every Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Sangi's Bowlero.

Mets Were Greatest—Leo

CHARLES J. TIANO
Sports Editor

KINGSTON
"No team in baseball could have beaten the Mets in the World Series," the man said. "They had the momentum and they came up with a hero every day," the man continued. And who was the man? Leo Durocher, the legendary "Lip" of major league baseball, addressing a press conference in a conference room at the vast IBM complex Saturday, that's who.

Durocher was in town to address the annual IBM Club Sports Award Dinner and he was doing what he likes best—talking. Nattily attired in conservative blue suit and glowing with good health and cheer, the Chicago Cub manager fielded questions with the finesse and aplomb that made him one of the great "glove" shortstops in baseball history. He covered a wide range of subjects with a style and delivery that entranced a small but select audience.

Did Durocher really think the Mets could beat the Baltimore Orioles in the 1969 World Series?

Favored Orioles
He fell back on the old cliché about "anything can happen in a short series," but quickly checked himself and admitted, "No, I really didn't think so."

A highly successful manager who won pennants with three different teams, Durocher was philosophical about the Cubs' collapse which saw them surrender a 9½-game lead after August 13.

"Our pitching bogged down and we just couldn't get clutch hits when we needed them coming down the stretch," he recalled, a bit sadly.

The Santos Dilemma
"Do you know that Santos (Ron) left 30 men on third base with one or no outs?" he asked the audience in a slight switch. "Sure, he drove in more than 100 runs, but in those last weeks we could have used a few more."

Did the Lip plan to shake up the Cubs after that horrendous collapse?

"Well, you'll always make the right trade," he explained, "but you're not about to give up a Ron Santos just to make the trade." He said there wasn't in "untouchable" on the team but the trading block price would run high for men like Santos, Ferguson Jenkins, Billy Williams, et al.

Durocher admitted the Amazon Mets might have the potential to build a baseball dynasty comparable to the great Yankee, Cardinal and Dodger machines of yesteryear but declined to make a flat footed prediction. The man who touched off a national philosophical controversy with his remark about "nice guys finish last" hit a lot of other spots during the interview. Here are just a few:

Banks A Perennial
About Ernie Banks, the in destructible 38-year-old first base marvel: "I've been trying to retire Banks since 1966, but every spring he chases the up starts off first base then bats around 300 and knocks in 100 runs. I wish I knew what kind of pills he takes. I could use some myself."

If you had to win one ball game, who would be your pitcher? "I'd have three choices and I think any of them could do the job—Dizzy Dean, Carl Hubbel or Sandy Koufax."

Did Leo think his greatest player, (Willie Mays) de serve the nod over Joe DiMaggio as the Greatest Living Player as recently designated by baseball writers?

"This boils down to a matter of personal opinion," he said. "They're so close you could put a tissue paper between them."

The quality of major league baseball remains high, "but I'm not so sure about the quality of umpiring," said Leo in one of rare glib moments during the interview.

Likes the Daylight
He said he always preferred daylight ball over the nocturnal version. "You see the whole ball in daylight ball, only one bottom half under the lights," Would Phil Wrigley, the Cubs owner, ever relent and install arclights at Wrigley Field, the last holdout against modern technology?

"I'm out of my department on that one," Leo quipped. "You'll have to ask Mr. Wrigley."

Durocher's guest appearance at IBM was one of only four he'll make in the off season—two others in Chicago and another in Atlanta.

But wherever he goes, you can be sure of one thing—Mr. Durocher will knock them dead, just like he did in Kingston Saturday night.

THE LIP IN TOWN — Leo Durocher, lower left, was in town Saturday night to address the IBM Club and met, among others, Ron Gabriel (UL) WGHQ sportscaster; Charles J. Tiano, Freeman sports editor; and Dick Lorenzo, IBM Club president.

Years of Frustration All Over for Crampton

HONOLULU (UPI) — For Bruce Crampton, it ended four years of frustration. For Jack Nicklaus, it was a disappointing finish in his quest to become golfdom's second million dollar winner.

Crampton, an Australian who plays out of the Grand Bahama Islands, came out of the pack in the $125,000 Hawaiian International Open to pick up his first tournament victory since 1965 when he won the 500 141, two strokes under par, and

Kickers' Rally Fails Against Ukrainians

MORGAN HILL been the crucial score of the bitterly fought contest. It pushed the Ukrainians ahead 3-0 and gave them the cushion they needed when things started getting rough later in the day. Eddie Buistrago, a native of the Argentine who also managed to get some playing time in Rome, got the Ukes off to a 1-0 in the first six minutes. Nine minutes later, he got the assist on Kerr's first goal.

The Kickers thwarted the high powered Ukrainians for 30 minutes after Kerr's second victory, with a loss and tie in, nine games.

For the Kickers, outplayed and apparently more interested in fighting among themselves, it was the seventh loss in eight starts and kept them dead last in the division.

"We gave them quite a scare in the last 30 minutes," said Coach Bob Graves, "but we made our move too late."

The Crucial Play
A 15 yard boomer by inside right John Kerr one minute into the second half may have, with a sneak shot from the left side to take the game out of reach.

"I thought we played well," said Coach Graves. "But we never could overcome their early advantage."

Thanks to a great defensive effort by Winnie Soddemann, the Kickers blanked the great Willie Mfum of the Republic of Ghana, who is one of the top names in international soccer. Mfum did get a pair of assists, however, on the first two Ukrainian goals.

A change in schedule will give the Kickers one more home game this season — next Sunday against New York Hots.

Section '9' Fizzles in X-Country

ALBANY
Section Nine cross country champions made a dismal showing in the New York State Intersectional championships Saturday at Albany State University.

Clarkstown High, the Section 9 Class A champions, placed fifth in the state event, with its two best runners — Kevin and Bob Dillon — placing 24th and 25th, respectively.

Kevin Barringer of Middletown High, the Section's "A" champion, could do no better than 36th place, the "A" title went to Mount Vernon with a score of 117 to 222 for second place Lindenhurst. Vinne Derosa of Walt Whitman broke the old course record of 12:47 while finishing first in 12:03.7.

Ward Melville High of Section 11 captured the Class B title as its Craig McDonald led the field in new record time of 12:17.4. Monroe Woodbury of Section 9 finished eighth and its top runner, Bruno Mapes, took 18th place.

Chuck Forsys of Washingtonville, the Section 9 Class B champion, was hampered by stomach cramps and could finish no better than 60th place.

Levittown of Section 8 won the Class C title and John Hunt of Dobbs Ferry led the individuals. Don Crawford of Highland High ran in spite of an injured knee and placed 39th, as Highland was ninth.

Section 9 Champs

WEST POINT
Middletown High defeated Washingtonville, 2-1, Friday in the rain and mud at the U. S. Military Academy to win its first Section Nine soccer championship.

Giuseppe Bruni scored for Middletown in the third and fourth periods to overcome a first-period goal by Washingtonville's Mike Romano.

The goals by the Middle senior ace, who came to Middletown from Italy, ran his total for the season to 31 and 76 for his career and provided the team with its sixth second half, come-from-behind victory this year.

Mrs. Merritt, Mrs. Wilson Named to KWBA Hall of Fame

career was rolling a 619 series with the Kaye Sportswear exhibition team that set all-time Hudson Valley league records for women with 1073 and 2994, marks that still stand.

On the organizational level, she served on many KWBA committees, was a director for three terms and president during the 1953-54 season. She also served as state and national delegate in the 1953-54 conventions.

Helped Form KWBA
Mrs. Wilson was one of the small band of pioneers who helped launch the KWBA. She was a director on the first executive board for two years and was vice president from 1943 through 1950. She served two terms as president.

During the war years, Mrs. Wilson was involved in many fund raising events for the war effort and veterans. Then in the 63 season when Dot Rawling bettered it by one pin.

Mrs. Wilson played an important role.

She served as an officer in many leagues and in 1941-42 was a delegate to the first New York State convention in which the KWBA was represented. She also was delegate to three other state conventions.

Mrs. Wilson also holds the rare distinction of being one of the few charter members of the association who has not missed a year's bowling since the KWBA was organized in 1940-41.

During the war years, Mrs. Wilson was involved in many fund raising events for the war effort and veterans. Then in the 63 season when Dot Rawling bettered it by one pin.

One of the high spots of her women's championships and

Contrary to popular opinion, the Chicago Black Hawks can win without superstar Bobby Hull.

With Hull on the sidelines because of a contract dispute, the Hawks got off to a horrendous start by dropping their first five games. But, Sunday night, thanks to another superb effort by goalie Tony Esposito and Stan Mikita's 12th League career, Chicago whipped Toronto, 9-0, for its fourth straight victory. The Hawks' triumph lifted them out of last place in the Eastern Division for the first time this season. Their recent upsurge can be attributed in large part to Esposito who has allowed only six goals in his last six games.

In addition to recording his shutout against the Leafs who dropped into the cellar, Esposito also assisted on a goal in the second period when he cleared a shot off the right boards. The puck was picked up by Pat Stapleton who fed a lead pass to Lou Angotti and the little wing slipped the disc past Toronto goalie Marv Edwards.

In the only other NHL game, Philadelphia and Oakland played to a 2-2 tied and remained deadlocked for third

Country Wife SOCIAL ACTIVITIES PAGES

By DOROTHY VAN DOREN

We went to a pretty ceremony the other day. The local Episcopal Center, combined with the Humane Society, got together to bless the animals. This meant that people brought their dogs—a couple of beagles, a Korgi, two slender greyhounds, a Champion Peke and the rest of them just dogs—two cats, one held by a little girl, the other in a wire cage, and a turtle. These creatures waited patiently while prayers were said over them, while a poet read some of his animal poems, while a hymn was sung.

I said they waited patiently. Of course they didn't. The dogs quivered and whimpered now and then and strained at their leashes. They waited to be free and make friends with the other dogs; or if not friends, then enemies. But it was a happy occasion, in a gove of evergreens carpeted with pine needles. On a mild Sunday afternoon, with the trees turning yellow and red along the roads, it was pleasant.

We Americans on the whole treat our household pets well; with the exception of the Easter chicks who should never be bought for a child.

Concert Scheduled Tonight at 7:30

A special concert to introduce Miss Joan Patenaude, a lyric soprano and Affiliate Artist at the Military Academy will be held this evening at 7 o'clock in Thayer Hall's South Auditorium. Conducting the U. S. Military Academy Band will be Lieutenant Colonel William H. Schempf, the band's commanding officer and Director of Music.

Miss Patenaude will be the featured soloist in "Arias from Finale to Act I of La Traviata" by Verdi and "Mussetta's Waltz from La Boheme" by Puccini.

Selections from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" will be performed by Miss Patenaude, accompanied by Specialist Five Eugene Soulsby, baritone soloist.

Other pieces to be played include "Marche Lorraine" by Louis Ganne, "Soirees Musicales" by Gioacchino Rossini and Bach's "Tocatta and Fugue in D Minor."

There will be no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

We are not like the Aztecs who raised a round, fat little dog and ate him. Not like the Italians who in Naples at least beat their donkeys, not much bigger than dog, unmercifully. Not like the horses in the days when horses worked, who were compelled to pull loads too heavy for them, or the riding horses with their tails docked for fashion, or the carriage horses with their heads pulled back by a cruel check rein.

Nothing like that now. Women shopping in the grocery store are careful to pick out the food the cat likes best. He won't eat Friskies, they say, or mine likes I've better than kidney. Once in a while a callus cat owner says her cat eats Puss-in Boots and likes it, or else. But mostly the cats are catered to; the dogs seem to be less fussy about their food. I have never known a dog to refuse any sort of provender, not to mention the high smelling bones he digs up and munches between meals.

Bird feeding time, which is coming around again soon, is another aspect of our care for creatures. The jays and chickadees like sunflower seed; the sparrows and juncos prefer cracked corn thrown on the ground. The wood peckers love peanut butter. So we lay in a supply, renewed regularly all winter, of various foods and offer it to the right bird in the right places.

Well, why not? I feel sorry for people who do not have pets: like people without children their hours are too free. They can go out any time, take trips without worrying, never have to get a sitter.

We need not go into the blessings of having children, although there are times —! Even animals can be a trouble. It is just as well to invoke a kind providence, as we did the other day, for help in living with them.

VERSATILE RAISIN BREAD

Gage - Ennist Nuptials Announced Here

MRS. JACOB J. ENNIST JR.
(Photo Workshop)

St. Peter's Church, Kingston, was the setting of the wedding of Miss Sharon Anne Gage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Gage, RD 1, Box 59, Kingston, and Jacob J. Ennist Jr., 16 Center Road, Mt. Marion, son of Jacob J. Ennist Sr., Kingston, and the late Anna Ennist, on Saturday, Nov. 1.

The Rev. Daniel J. Croston officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Anne Goldrick provided traditional wedding selections. Basket arrangements of pink gladioli and white pompons decorated the altar.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected an Empire, A-line ensemble of delicate pink embroidered lace over crepe. The dress featured a close fitting bodice of lace and a ring collar. The embroidered lace coat was styled with long sleeves and a matching collar. Her short illusion veil was caught to a headpiece of silk net which formed roses and was accented with pearl inserts. She carried a colonial bouquet of baby pink roses, white carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Joan Gage, sister-in-law of the bride, Highland, served as matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of cornflower blue karate, styled in a floating line fit. She wore a matching coat and a blue petal headpiece. The honor attendant carried a casual hand bouquet of yellow daisy pompons and sweet heart roses.

Ronald L. Gage, brother of the bride, Highland, was best man. Ushers were Herman Campbell and Raymond Williams, both of Kingston. Michael Gage, brother of the bride, served as an altar boy.

A reception for 75 guests was held at Elmer's Inn, Ruby. For her wedding journey to the Pocono Mountains, Pennsylvania, the bride wore a black, white and red plaid ensemble with a matching cape and a corsage of red roses.

The bride is a 1964 graduate of St. Patrick's High School, Catskill, and a 1969 graduate of Dutchess Community College. She is employed as a registered nurse by Kingston Hospital.

Her husband is an alumnus of Kingston High School and is employed as a lab technician by Hercules Powder Company, Port Ewen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ennist Jr. will make their home at 16 Center Road, Mt. Marion.

Engagement Told

Chief Sonar Technician John T. Repanshek and Mrs. Repanshek of Antigua, West Indies announce the engagement of their daughter, Antoinette, to Sonar Technician 2C John W. Bigler, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bigler Sr. of Lexington, Ky., formerly of Kingston. He is the grandson of Mrs. Hattie Smith of this city.

Miss Repanshek attended schools in Key West, Fla. and Antigua. Her fiancé attended St. Peter's School in Kingston, St. Paul's School in Kentucky, and was graduated from Lexington Catholic High School in Kentucky.

He has been stationed in Antigua since July 1967.

The wedding is planned for Dec. 13 at St. John's Church in Antigua. After their wedding trip, the couple will be in Lexington for 30 days until Mr. Bigler reports for duty in Eleuthera, Bahama Islands.

Speaker Named for BPW Meeting Tuesday

Eugene J. Daly, president of Key Career, Inc., will be guest speaker at the November dinner meeting of Ulster County Business and Professional Women's Club. The meeting will take place Tuesday, Nov. 11 at 7 p.m. at the Kirkland Hotel. Mr. Daly's topic will be "Equal Opportunity for Women."

Mr. Daly was born in Los Angeles, Calif., and was graduated from Farleigh Dickinson College where he was a business administration major. He obtained a law degree from New York Law School and a Masters in Business Administration from Hartford University.

After serving in the U. S. Navy as a Lt. Jg., Mr. Daly was in the insurance business for 14 years as a regional claims manager in upstate New York.

He is now president of Key Careers, Inc., established four years ago in Syracuse. The company has expanded to 12 offices throughout New York and Connecticut.

Mr. Daly opened a Key Careers branch in Kingston this year because he saw the need in a progressive town for the services that a large city has.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
CHANGING STREET SIGNS DANGEROUS

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of Emily Post's Etiquette has been sent to Louis Courts of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Dear Mrs. Post: Never having written to any columnist during my whole life, I now start doing so during my "retiring years." I was taken with your "pet peeve request" for I have had one for some years and I do wish that someone would handle it without feeling obligated to "pet it" or even to tip toe or use rubber gloves.

On occasion I am driving in a strange neighborhood and know nothing of the street directions. Busily engaged in the problems of traffic lights, signals, signs, etc., I am every now and then a victim of some pranking urchin who has wrenched the street sign out of its socket so as to make the streets read the wrong way. I honestly think that this practice of changing street signs is by no means a joke during the present age when safety must be a major concern of every driver, but rather I feel that it is not only an enemy to motorists but a formidable one for sure. — Louis Courts

There is little one can do about this situation except to call it to the attention of the police so that it may be remedied at once. That is the responsibility of anyone who finds that a sign has been tampered with. While it will not necessarily help to catch or punish the culprits, it will at least prevent great inconvenience and the possibility of accidents to those unfamiliar with the vicinity.

CULTURAL ARTS PROGRAM — Frank Mele, well known professional violinist and teacher, is pictured here with fourth grade student Daryl Brown, explaining the basic parts of the violin during a cultural arts program at West Hurley School on Thursday, Nov. 6. Among many points which Mr. Mele covered with his young audience were the nature of the violin, its history, evolution, and its relation to other instruments, as well as its own uniqueness in sound. The range of its potential from solo work to Chamber Music, Symphony and even jazz was also discussed. Mr. Mele has played with the Rochester Philharmonic and the Pittsburgh Symphony. He recently taught at Kansas University and has left the academic field to teach students of the violin and viola privately. The author of many articles in this field, he is currently training a Chamber Orchestra group that primarily perform Baroque works. He resides on Yerry Hill Road in Woodstock. Mr. Mele's visit to West Hurley School was arranged by Mrs. Anthony Robinson, chairman of Cultural Arts Committee of West Hurley PTA. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE

Dear Heloise:

To store loose light bulbs that you sometimes buy unpackaged...

Set them in drinking glasses!

Large bulbs (100-watt or more) in big glasses, and smaller ones (40s for example) in smaller glasses.

Your light bulbs are not likely to roll around or get broken. And nearly all of us have extra glasses on hand that are seldom used.

Harold Tidrow

That's what I really call Yankee ingenuity! Might just as well put those empty drinking glasses to work. Not only protects your fragile light bulbs from breakage, but saves storage space as well.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

After pouring batter into your waffle iron, if you let it cook for awhile before closing the lid, it will assure a fluffier waffle. And mainly, it will keep it from running down the sides and creating a mess to clean.

My teenage son taught me this, proving we are never so smart that they can't teach us something if we will just listen to our youth!

Jean Mary Arnold

Dear Heloise:

A quick way to make a BIG pinch cushion, is to take scraps of materials and cover a loose roll of toilet tissue. It is especially handy for people who sew a lot, and have pins and safety pins scattered all over the place.

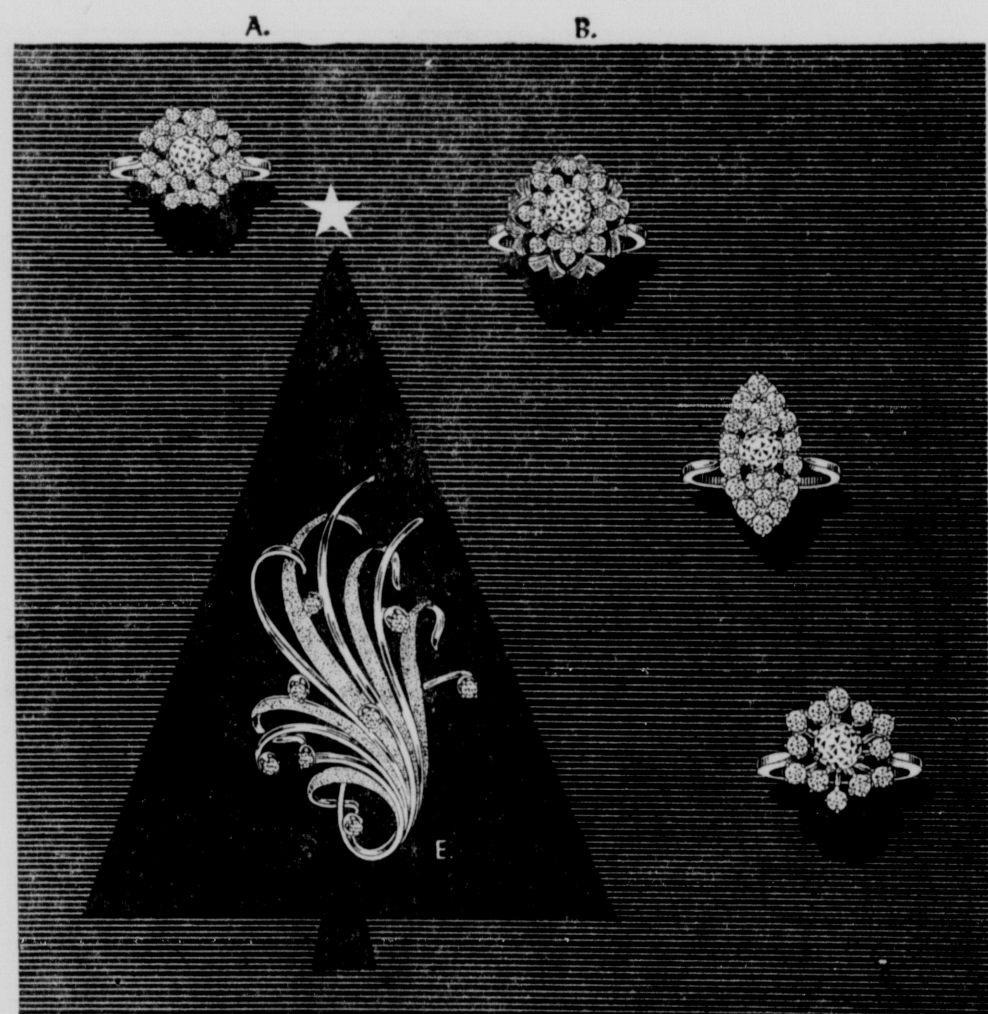

Also this would be a wonderful place to put your jewelry pins as you would have plenty of room; more so than in most jewelry boxes.

Mary Lou Patterson

Letter of Laughter

I predict that: Children are going to miss out that very important Sixty-Four Dollar Question when they are asked: "Who invented that fabulous material called net?" And they will answer, "Some lady called Heloise."

Adaptable Cheese--Food for any Hour of Day or Night

CHICKEN TETRAZZINI — Chicken, spaghetti and lots of flavorful Parmesan cheese make Chicken Tetrazzini something to sing about! And aptly so. The dish was created in honor of opera star, Luisa Tetrazzini.

NEW YORK (NAPS) — Provolone, Swiss, Gouda — all names with foreign intrigue — are just three among the cheese "immigrants" to the United States. The skill of our cheesemakers offers Americans a world of flavors and types, all made right here in the United States.

We can count ourselves lucky to have such a variety of this adaptable favorite food, appropriate and appetizing any time — for picnics or parties, snacks, lunches or dinners, or breakfasts.

Cheese for breakfast? Why not? In the Netherlands, Edam or Gouda appears on the breakfast table to be enjoyed with sliced ham. If preferences run to hot breakfasts, versatile cheese will go along in such day starter specialties as Cheese Noodle Omelet. It's an easy way to give new flair to breakfast eggs — combined with cooked noodles and flavored with green pepper, pimiento and a cup of mellow Cheddar.

Just beat the eggs with seasonings, stir in the other ingredients and cook until set in a skillet. Then cut into wedges and serve, accompanied by Canadian bacon, sausages, or ham. For fruit and beverage, choose a tangerine, opened to form a flower, and a cup of hot chocolate, topped with whipped cream. Imaginative fare for family breakfast or company brunch!

Cheese makes for flavorful appeal when a hearty luncheon or supper is in order, too. Parmesan is the cheese star of Chicken Tetrazzini, first concocted by a New York chef to honor opera star Luisa Tetrazzini. This modern version of the now-classic dish starts with a seasoned cream sauce made with milk and chicken broth. Stir in chopped cooked chicken, mushrooms, pimiento, cooked spaghetti and grated Parmesan. More Parmesan tops the dish which makes a brief stop beneath the broiler before it appears at table. Serve it with a salad of citrus fruits, onion rings, greens and tangy dressing. Add crusty bread and milk for a meal to bring braves from the "audience."

Between meals, as well, cheese is a nibbler's delight and a good choice for nutritional value plus appetite appeal. Quick to fix and fun to eat, cheeses and crackers make great snack fare. Just expand the menu with cold meats and relishes for an informal "instant party." And keep in mind this quick, dilly dip so good with crackers, potato chips or vegetable sticks: In a small bowl combine ½ cup shredded Cheddar cheese, 1 tablespoon prepared horseradish, ½ teaspoon dill weed. Gently blend in 1 cup dairy sour cream. Cover and chill at least 1 hour before serving. Makes 1½ cups.

Cultivate cheese and fruit combinations, too. They're most famous as a Continental dessert worthy of any occasion, but there's no reason to save them for post meal appearances only, when they make such satisfying ad lib eating. Try nut sweet Swiss with grapes; mellow, smoky Provolone with pears; mild Gouda with golden Delicious apples — just a few of many possibilities to enjoy from the wide world of cheese.

Cheesy Noodle Omelet

8 servings

8 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 cups noodles, cooked
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons butter, melted

In a bowl beat eggs with salt and pepper. Stir in noodles, cheese, green pepper, and pimiento. In large covered skillet melt butter; pour in egg mixture. Cover and cook over medium heat 15-20 minutes or until set. (Do not stir.) Cut into wedges; remove from skillet and serve immediately.

VARIATION: Substitute ¾ cup grated Parmesan cheese for the shredded Cheddar cheese.

Chicken Tetrazzini

6-8 servings

8 oz. uncooked long spaghetti, broken in half
1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 cups milk
1 cup chicken broth
3 cups chopped cooked chicken
1 can (2 oz.) mushrooms, drained
¼ cup pimiento strips
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

In a large saucepan cook spaghetti according to package directions; drain. Stir in 1 tablespoon butter until butter is melted; set aside. In a 3-quart saucepan melt 2 tablespoons butter; stir in flour, salt, paprika, celery salt and pepper. Remove from heat; gradually stir in milk and chicken broth. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add chicken, mushrooms, pimiento, spaghetti and ¼ cup Parmesan cheese; heat thoroughly. Place chicken mixture on oven-proof platter or shallow casserole; sprinkle remaining ¼ cup Parmesan cheese over top. Broil about 3 inches from heat until lightly browned.

Peach of a Stocking

Stocking fashions are going "nude" in the sheerest of textures with the blushing shade of peach as the predominant tone.

CHEDDAR makes this omelet something special to wake up to. It's flavored with pimiento and green pepper, and the recipe calls for cooked noodles, too. When something delightfully different for breakfast or brunch is called for, this is it!

Social Activities Listed

Bazaar, Bake Sale

The annual Christmas bazaar and bake sale of Ashokan United Methodist Church Women's Society will be held Saturday, Nov. 15 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the church school rooms. There will be a table of baked goods, fancy work, gifts, and a special table for children.

Successful Tea

The Board of Managers and residents of the Home for the Aged in Kingston recently expressed appreciation to all who contributed toward the success of the annual donation day and tea.

As a result of this event, funds were realized to provide extra comforts for the residents of the home. Three new chairs are being purchased for the lounge, tray covers will be provided for those unable to come to the dining room, and new rugs will be purchased. This fund also will provide entertainment, periodic parties, and items which will add to the happiness and well being of the residents.

Catholic Daughters

Catholic Daughters of America, Court Santa Maria, No. 164, will hold a monthly meeting Thursday, Nov. 13 at 8 p.m. at Knights of Columbus Hall, Kingston.

Plans for the annual Christmas dinner will be announced by Mrs. Donald Sangaline, chairman. Members are requested to attend this important meeting.

To Meet Wednesday

The regular monthly meeting of St. Catherine Labouré Altar-Rosary Society will be held in the Church Hall on Wednesday, Nov. 12 at 7:45 p.m. A short business meeting will take place after the recitation of the Rosary.

Plans will be finalized for the Christmas penny social to be held on Nov. 16 at 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the church hall. Mrs. Winnie Decker is chairman. Members are asked to donate prizes in the toy field.

They may bring them to the meeting.

Plans will also be completed for the annual Christmas party to be held Thursday, Dec. 11. Mrs. Barbara Newkirk is chairman.

After the business meeting, a program has been planned featuring a local florist demonstrating the art of flower arranging. All ladies of the parish are invited. An award has been donated by the florist which will be presented at the meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Funds for UNICEF

A check for $68.77 was forwarded to UNICEF, thanks to the generosity of the Rilton residents and the volunteers from Anna Devine School Auxiliary who collected funds on Halloween.

About 35 children participated along with the Mmes. Vilma Abrams, Barbara Wagner, Helen Petersen, Joan Border, Sandy Kaufman, Evelyn Donnelly, Kerttu Bojarsky, Barbara Buckbee, Dorothy Baker, Ethel Dewitt, Minna Johnson, Paula Bojarsky, Diana Bickert and Miss Joan Lynch.

Bus Trip Planned

Dear Abby

Girl Wants Facts

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune)

DEAR ABBY: About three months ago I met a very pretty Christian girl. She's 29 years old and still unmarried. I am 33 and divorced my wife 3 years ago when she ran out on me for another guy.

Well, I informed this lovely Christian girl of my past, explaining to her that I had accepted Jesus Christ as my personal Savior three years ago, but prior to that time I could have said with the Apostle Paul that I was the "Chief Sinner."

I asked her to marry me, and she said she would think it over.

The next day she handed me a piece of paper that looked like an application for a job with the FBI. She requested that I fill it out right then and there with a carbon copy, too!

There were questions like, "Where have you been employed the past 10 years? Have you ever been fired? If so, state reasons. Where did you obtain your divorce? Have you ever had any communicable diseases? Do you have a police record? Do you owe money?"

I felt like telling her to take her piece of paper and get lost, but instead I filled it out and signed it because I really cared for her. Now I feel like a fool. What is your opinion of this girl?

CARY

DEAR CARY: One thing for certain, she is not stupid. Perhaps she was frightened by your confession of having been the "Chief Sinner" and wanted to know precisely what that involved.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 years old and will be married very soon. I have had dentures for nearly four years and not even my closest friends suspect. My problem: should I tell my fiancé before we are married? Or should I wait until after? Or if you think it would be all right if I just didn't offer this information at all? I am absolutely positive that he doesn't know.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: This is a decision which YOU must make for yourself. But since it's highly likely that he will learn the truth, eventually, he'll probably think you're more "real" if you tell him now that your teeth aren't.

DEAR ABBY: This is a VERY small town, and everybody I know reads DEAR ABBY. Now, here is something I have to know. Are all the letters people write to you delivered to you UNOPENED?

This is important because I have a problem I would just love to write you about, but I have heard that our postmaster opens all the letters addressed to DEAR ABBY and he has the best time reading them.

I am a married woman and my problem concerns a married man in this town and I am sure if I wrote the facts, the postmaster would know who he was, and I sure don't want that!

Please answer in your column. If a letter came to me from DEAR ABBY, he'd open it for sure. I am taking this to another town to be mailed because I don't want to take any chances.

CAREFUL

DEAR CAREFUL: ALL my mail comes to me UNOPENED. Opening mail addressed to another is a federal offense. Your postmaster knows this, and he of all people would not want to be found guilty.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SWINGING GRANDPA" IN LA JOLLA: Save your money. Fun is like insurance. The older you get, the more it costs you.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Long journey, revision of basic plans, pushing beyond current horizons indicated. Be versatile. The past need not dominate present thoughts, actions, Think.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Agreement on funds can be reached today. Member of opposite sex has been insistent. Reach decision which is fair, but doesn't cost excess amount. Message clear by tonight.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Study TAURUS message. You are due to get answer to vital question — could affect public relations and marital status. Stress change, travel, variety.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your diet and how you handle yourself during crisis are highlighted. Key is to set moderate pace — and to practice moderation. Adjust domestic situation. Do so diplomatically.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Romantic aura persists. Excellent for organizing charitable enterprises. Especially good for appearances before large groups. You are dynamic, opposite sex is attracted.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Money, investments, basic security are highlighted. Deal with one who claims to have important backing. You soon learn whether individual is substantial or otherwise. Get at truth.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Talking alone does not suffice; you need a written statement, agreement. Expansion due. Your manner, style are appreciated. You receive meaningful compliment. Stand tall.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): New approach could result in solid financial gain. You add to possessions. LEO individual could play paramount role. This is a day to pay, collect debts — includes favors.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Cycle high; circumstances favor your special efforts. Make contacts. Stress greater independence. Be original. Your hunches pay dividends. Your timing is sharp.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Remember those who might be confined to home, hospital. Little consideration today goes a long way. Adhere to principles of golden rule. You are going to succeed.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Some of your aspirations may require revision. Be willing to tear down in order to rebuild. Many are with you. Know this and exude confidence, charm.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Written word brings gain, read and write. Absorb and disseminate knowledge. No day for being superficial. Say what you mean — mean what you say. Top person makes appraisal.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are intuitive, a natural teacher. You are always willing to experiment and to share knowledge. Current period of basic frustration is about to be erased. You will be on the move.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

BAD BAIT: (Comment) In her letter to you, J.C. complained about her cousin, who showed too much.

I don't want to look all the time at the top of a girl's stockings, or her girdle, or the top of her pantyhose. I know plenty of girls, however, who show theirs on purpose, hoping to get boys to ask for a date.

Most girls know what shows and what doesn't. And if a girl makes a habit of showing too much it may get her a date. But it won't be with the right kind of boy, and he won't be dating her for the right reason—A Girl Watcher.

(A.) Many girls think they can sit any way they want to now that they are wearing pantyhose. They are wrong. Maybe your letter will help some of them wake up to this fact. Thanks.

RING-AROUND: (Q.) I went steady with a boy until I found out he was saying things to ruin my reputation. I want to give him his ring back but can't because he's keeping "out of pocket."—Confused in Union City, N. J.

(A.) Drop the ring off at his home immediately. Ask his mother or father to give it to him. Then forget him.

Arab Council Still Meeting

Israeli Planes Hit Suez Positions Again

By United Press International

Israeli warplanes today made their second attack in as many days against Egyptian positions in the Gulf of Suez, a Tel Aviv military spokesman announced. He said all planes returned to their base safely.

Appears As Reprisal

The raid appeared to be a further reprisal for an Egyptian naval attack Saturday night on Israeli positions on the Sinai Peninsula. Egypt said the bombardment caused heavy damage and casualties. Israel denied the claim.

The Tel Aviv spokesman did not pinpoint the targets of today's morning aerial raids other than to say they occurred at 9 a.m. in the Gulf of Suez in the Suez Canal's central sector.

A similar raid in the area was announced by Israel Sunday with all planes reportedly returning to base safely.

A Cairo spokesman said Israeli planes unsuccessfully tried to raid positions in the Suez area of the west coast of the Gulf of Suez at 6 a.m. Sunday but were driven off by Egyptian jets. He made no mention of losses on either side.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said today the latest U.S. proposals for peace in the Middle East showed total favoritism for Israel.

Third Day of Meetings

The report came as the 13-nation Arab Defense Council held its third day of meetings in Cairo to mobilize and coordinate Arab resources for what it called the "inevitable" war with Israel. Another weekend of fighting was reported.

Sources close to the council said delegates have concluded that stalemate peace efforts have left no alternative than to prepare for a military showdown with the Jewish state.

Al-Ahram, which often reflects official Cairo government thinking, said Egypt had rejected the U.S. proposals given to government representatives by Soviet Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov and by a U.S. representative, Donald Bergus.

No Official Details

No official details of the plan have been released, but diplomatic sources in Washington and the United Nations have said it offered a new concession to the Arabs.

This concession reportedly was a United States call for an Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai Peninsula to the border that existed prior to the 1967 Middle East War.

Moonmen Hone Up Their Reflexes

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Apollo 12 astronauts, pronounced fit and "eager to fly," scheduled more moonship flying practice today to hone their reflexes for Friday's launch to the moon.

Charles "Pete" Conrad, Richard F. Gordon and Alan L. Bean planned to spend most of the day in spacecraft trainers, practicing lunar landing emergency procedures. They are preparing for every conceivable eventuality.

"I never worry about the things that everybody else has worried about," Conrad said. "I only worry about the things that none of us has thought about."

"I'm sure that something will come up in the flight. They always do and that's part of the business."

But the veteran mission commander said in a recent interview: "I think the risks are minimal."

The three astronauts passed their final major physical examination Sunday. Dr. Charles A. Berry, the chief astronaut physician, said, "They are in excellent spirits and eager to fly."

"They are properly rested and in good health, with no evidence, by laboratory or clinical examination, of any infectious disease which might interfere with the launch."

After the morning long check-up, the three Navy commanders relaxed in the comfortable moonport quarters. At nearby Patrick Air Force Base, the Air Force precision flight team, the Thunderbirds, saluted the Apollo 12 crew during a Veterans' Day air show.

At the ocean-side launch pad, technicians filled the spacecraft's breathing oxygen tanks and pressurized the lunar module fuel tanks with helium before entering another planned countdown "hold" at 3 a.m. today.

The countdown, scheduled to resume at 3 p.m., is aiming toward blastoff at 11:22 a.m. Friday.

Apollo 12 is scheduled to swing into orbit around the moon next Monday night with Conrad and Bean set to land on the moon's Ocean of Storms early the following Wednesday morning. Gordon will remain in lunar orbit.

Besides making certain the astronauts were healthy, Sunday's medical tests were designed to gather data to be compared with the results of similar tests after the pilots return to earth Nov. 24.

The initial moon landing carried out by Apollo 11 in July showed no evidence organisms exist on the moon. But biologists are taking no chances and the three Apollo 12 pilots will be quarantined until Dec. 10.

McCormack Viet Backing Alienates Dems

WASHINGTON (AP)—Speaker John W. McCormack has alienated some Democrats on both sides of the peace issue with his attempts to push through the House a resolution backing President Nixon's Vietnam policy.

Resentment over the speaker's action comes not only from Democrats opposed to the Nixon policy, but from some who support it but feel the resolution will be used by Nixon for political advantage.

The resolution, cosponsored by 50 Democrats and 50 Republicans, is general enough that it probably would have antagonized only the severest Nixon critics except for the President's Vietnam speech last week.

Many Democrats felt Nixon made a partisan attack on the Democratic administration of Lyndon B. Johnson and they don't like having to vote now to endorse the Republican President's position.

The opposition is not sufficient to endanger passage of the resolution but it is intense enough to cause McCormack to have second thoughts about rushing it to the House floor.

Although it was pushed through the Foreign Affairs Committee last week without a hearing, it has not been scheduled for action this week despite the wishes of some of its sponsors. The backers want it approved before war protest activities start later this week in Washington.

It could still be called up this week but the indications now are that it will not be.

McCormack's insistence on passage of the resolution widened the breach between him and the liberal Democrats, further clouding the issue of the future leadership of the House Democrats.

The 78-year-old speaker recently announced he would run for another term as speaker in 1971 to seek vindication of charges his office has been used by friends trying to influence government officials.

The announcement dismayed liberals who had expected McCormack to step down and were looking around for someone to back as his successor.

The unhappy Democrats are comparing McCormack's performance on the resolution with that of Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield in a similar situation last week. Mansfield first had a provision added to the resolution urging Nixon to seek a mutual cease-fire in Vietnam, and then sent it to the foreign relations committee for a full review "of all its aspects."

By contrast, McCormack, a strong supporter of the Vietnam policies of both Nixon and Johnson, ordered the House Foreign Affairs Committee to approve the resolution without any hearings and without any changes. Democrats opposed to the Nixon policy see the speaker's action as an attempt to isolate them by forcing an overwhelming vote for the resolution.

Still Missing In Lake Mishap

COLFAX, Wash. (AP)—A New York State priest remained missing and presumed drowned Sunday at Rock Lake.

The Rev. John M. Wyzkowski, 42, of Port Edward, N.Y., has been missing since Thursday in the area where he was on a fishing trip.

Officials at Fairchild Air Force Base in Spokane, where Wyzkowski had been serving as

In a vote of the full House on a Vietnam resolution, the liberal Democrats will be drowned out, but in the Democratic caucus that will pick the next speaker they will have a larger voice and they intend to use it.

A Roman Catholic chaplain, said they planned to decide today whether to continue searching.

Wyzkowski had been camping with his brother, the Rev. Bernard Wyzkowski of Springfield, Ill. The body of Bernard Wyzkowski was found in the lake Thursday night.

Three GLs Reflect on Freedom

SAIGON (UPI)—"I'd think twice before I'd fight them again."

"They had the opportunity to kill me and didn't. I really appreciate them sparing my life."

"I don't hate them, but I still consider them my enemy."

The comments were those of three young GLs freed last week by the Viet Cong. They told newsmen about their captivity before flying home for medical treatment today.

In blue hospital pajamas and sandals, the three, all 22 years old, appeared relaxed, and healthy as they recounted their experiences at a brief news conference.

The men are Pfc. Coy R. Tinsley of Cleveland, Tenn.; Spec.4 James R. Strickland Jr. of Dunn, N.C., and Spec.4 Willie A. Watkins of Sumter, S.C. Strickland and Watkins were held 22 months. Tinsley eight months.

All said they had been treated well by the Viet Cong and had spent most of their time eating rice, playing checkers and talking. They said they still supported United States' presence in Vietnam.

"You can call them our enemy or anything you want," said Strickland. "But they had the opportunity to kill me and didn't. I really appreciate them sparing my life."

"I was wounded when they captured me," said Tinsley. "They took real good care of
